11 Known Dead, at Least 60 Injured In Pennsy Rail Wreck

Crack Flyer Smacks Into Stalled Train

"Red Arrow" Piles Into Night Express Near Philadelphia

BRYN MAWR, Pa., May 18—(AP)—Two famed Pennsylvania Railroad passenger trains crashed near this Philadelphia suburb today, killing 11 persons and injuring at least 60 others.

None of the dead has been identified.

Five bodies were taken from the Pittsburgh-Philadelphia night express and the Red Arrow, bound from Detroit to New York. Another was reported to have been located in the debris.

The Red Arrow plowed into the rear of the stopped night express at 6.38 a.m. E.S.T., a short distance west of the station here.

A spokesman for the P.R.R. said the 19-car Philadelphia night express had been halted on a signal indicating that something might be dragging from underneath the train.

Split In Half

It was while the crew was trying to detect the drag that the Red Arrow smashed into the rear car—a sleeping car from Cleveland, O.—telescoping it and splitting it in half.

This car—the "Poplarvale"—had a sleeping capacity of 24, the spokesman said. But he added it had not been determined how many passengers actually were there.

Two other cars of the express were derailed.

The engine of the Red Arrow nosed straight into the air, then tumbled onto its side. Behind the locomotive were two unoccupied cars—a train crew dormitory and a baggage car, both of which were derailed.

Had these two cars been occupied, it was speculated, the loss of life likely would have been greater.

The four-track P.R.R. mainline in this area, which also pours tens of thousands of suburban dwellers into Philadelphia commerce and industry daily, is elaborately guarded with safety devices. Among them is an automatic block signal system which directs engineers to slow or stop when operating too close to trains on the same tracks.

Low Speed

A P.R.R. official, who said the railroad is investigating but has not yet established the facts, expressed the opinion the Red Arrow was traveling at less than normal speed at the time of the crash.

Within moments after the accident hundreds of people gathered at the scene—in one of the quietest of Philadelphia's residential, well-to-do suburbs.

Among the first to arrive were two priests from the Mother of Good Council Church in Bryn Mawr — Father John Tuohy, O.S.A., and Father George McNamara, O.S.A.

Quickly they joined rescue parties in searching for the dead and helping removal of the injured to hospitals.

Later they agreed: "There was very little confusion. The less badly hurt seemed to have one chief concern—the welfare of those who had been injured more seriously."

Throughout the neighborhood, with its fine lawns and gardens and great shade trees, mothers were getting young children ready for school. One was Mrs. Helen Kincade, 32, who said the crash of the trains sounded as if it were "practically in the back yard."

Saw Both Trains

"Only a moment before," she related, "I glanced out of the window. I saw both trains. They were moving slowly.

"The crash really wasn't terribly loud, but seemed so near. I looked out of the window again and saw cars tumbled all over the tracks."

Rescue efforts were made somewhat more difficult by the nature of the terrain. The express had stopped on a curve. From the right

Will Crown Statue Sunday

May Queen, Attendant Selected at St. Mary

The annual exercises marking the crowning of the statue of the Blessed Virgin will be held Sunday afternoon in St. Mary Catholic Church, with pupils of the grades and high school participating.

Chosen to crown the statue is Miss Christine Scranton, senior, and selected as her attendant is Miss Mary Rose Kaciur, also a senior. Miss Scranton is the daughter of Mrs. Selora Scranton of 265 Cass avenue and is the fourth girl of her family chosen for this honor. Her attendant is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Kaciur of the Iberia pike.

Selection of the May Queen and her attendant is made by a combined vote of the faculty and junior and senior classes.

Pupils To March

The ceremony will take place at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Pupils from grades six to 12 will march in the procession from the school to the church, singing traditional hymns. The graduates in caps and gowns will immediately precede the May Queen.

The pastor, Very Rev. William J. Spickerman, V. F., will lead the students in their act of consecration to the Blessed Virgin Mary. Rev. Father Urban Wiggins, assistant pastor, will deliver the sermon.

On Sunday members of the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin of St. Mary School entertained their mothers at the annual mother-daughter breakfast in Moira Hall. Anne Dennis, sodality prefect, was chairman and the welcome was extended by Vivian McDonough, a senior. A tribute to Mary was given by Christine Scranton. An informal talk was given by Very Rev. Father Spickerman.

Blue and white were the colors carried out in the decoration and a shrine to Mary completed the setting. The girls presented their mothers with a novena of masses as their most fitting remembrance for Mother's Day.

Other Activities

Other activities in the school included a fashion revue Tuesday, May 8. Guests included Very Rev. Murphy and Father Wiggins, Father Spickerman, Father Hugh, mothers and friends of the pupils. The girls modeled the blouses, skirts and dresses and suits made in the sewing class this year.

Taking part were: Sharon Giles, narrator, and Mary Jo Dwyer, Jane Granger, Suzanne Cornely,

Union County Sheriff And Lawyer Scrap

File Charges, Counter Charges in Cattle Rustling Case

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, May 18—Charges and counter charges were filed yesterday by Harvey Crowe, 57, of St. Paris, O., attorney for four men under indictment for cattle rustling, and Union County Sheriff Walter T. Galloway.

Crowe had filed charges against the sheriff alleging he had not properly fed or cared for the four men under indictment who are in Union County jail, had given them no medical or dental care and had not allowed them to see him, their lawyer, on certain dates.

A hearing on the charges was to have been held yesterday before Common Pleas Judge LeRoy F. Allen, but he postponed the hearing until Saturday.

Immediately after Judge Allen had left the courtroom the sheriff served papers on Crowe charging him with harboring a felon. He was charged with being seen in a car with John Garvey, now under indictment for cattle rustling, on the night of April 14. This was at a time when Garvey was being hunted by Sheriff Galloway, the sheriff said.

Upon serving the papers, a tussle followed because Crowe wanted to see Judge Allen. Crowe was finally taken to the jail by the sheriff and another tussle followed when Sheriff Galloway attempted to book him.

Crowe posted $200 bond for his appearance in court on May 26. He denies all the charges.

Pleasant Athlete's Car Left "High and Dry"

Dale Kinsell, former star athlete of Pleasant High School, walked out after attending graduation exercises at the school last night to find both the front tires and wheels of his 1948 Buick sedan stolen and the front of the car sitting on concrete blocks.

Value of the tires and wheels was placed at $130.

Sheriff's deputies were called to the scene and an investigation of the theft is under way.

Magazine Man Pleads Guilty

Charged With Intent To Defraud

A magazine salesman arrested Wednesday night by the Marion County sheriff's deputies pleaded guilty this morning in Municipal Court to the charge he did falsely pretend with intent to defraud that he was an ex-serviceman wounded in Korea, in an effort to obtain magazine subscriptions from Marion County residents.

The salesman, Norman Bridwell, 23, of Terre Haute, Ind., was fined $25 and costs but the fine and costs were suspended on the condition that he leave the city. Officials of the firm for which he sold subscriptions reported today he had been discharged and returned home.

Bridwell was arrested after posing as a wounded veteran of the Korean war in an effort to obtain magazine subscriptions from Marion County residents. He told prospective customers he had been wounded three times in the stomach by enemy machinegun fire during the early part of the Korean war, sheriff's deputies said. He later admitted he had spent only six months' service with the Army during World War II, all in the United States, and that his stomach ailment was ulcers, deputies reported. He was arrested after the sheriff's office was called by a Marion County farmer.

Subscriptions sold by Bridwell were perfectly legitimate, the Red China Arms Embargo OK'd By U. N. Assembly

NEW YORK, May 18—(AP)—The United Nations Assembly today voted an arms embargo against Communist China in an effort to cut off strategic materials reaching the Reds from the free world.

The vote was 47 to 0.

The Soviet bloc asked to be recorded as not participating. Nations abstaining were Afghanistan, Burma, Egypt, India, Indonesia, Pakistan, Sweden and Syria.

India's Sir Benegal N. Rau expressed fear the embargo would create another "psychological hurdle" in the path of a peaceful settlement of the Korean question. He urged the assembly to make a new peace gesture toward the Peiping regime by issuing a format declaration that U.N. troops would not again advance north of the 38th Parallel.

Most countries outside the Communist sphere already have halted shipments to the Peiping regime, but sponsors of the embargo measure hoped it would plug loopholes and shut off shipments entirely. It was also intended as another moral judgment against the Chinese Reds.

Russia's Jacob A. Malik and representatives here of the four Soviet satellite countries contested the legality of the Assembly's action and thus clearly indicated they would refuse to comply. This had been expected.

Has Significance

The decision is significant for two reasons: it represents the first time the U.N. has attempted to apply economic sanctions as a weapon to stop aggression; it may open the way at a later stage for more severe measures such as a naval blockade.

The heart of the resolution is a paragraph calling upon U.N. members and non-members to embargo shipment "of arms, ammunition, and implements of war, atomic energy materials, petroleum, transportation materials of strategic value, and items useful in the production of arms, ammunition and implements of war." It would apply to areas under either Peiping or North Korean control.

Although decisions of the assembly are recommendations only and are not binding, virtually all members have declared they would comply with the measure as a moral obligation. The Soviet countries, of course, were among those who made no such undertaking.

Malik Argues

Malik argued he considered the assembly incompetent to deal with the question. He contended it was a matter for the security council—where Russia could use the veto to kill it.

Malik charged the embargo would "spread and continue the war."

U. S. Delegate Ernest A. Gross led the fight for the proposal. He told Malik the whole Korean problem had been dropped by the Security Council as a result of Russia's paralyzing vetoes last fall.

The arms embargo plan was worked out by the assembly's special committee created to study measures against Red China. Today's vote completed U.N. action on the embargo measure but the special committee is studying additional measures.

Truman Stirs MacArthur Issue Again

Says He Considered Firing General Year Earlier

WASHINGTON, May 18—(AP)—President Truman's statement he had considered dismissing Gen. Douglas MacArthur off and on for a year "astonished" the deposed general and stirred critics of the administration to new wrath today.

Senator Hickenlooper, Iowa Republican dissenter on official Far East policy charged Mr. Truman had "deceived the people" with previous declaration of support for MacArthur.

MacArthur, in a statement issued in New York, said his astonishment at Mr. Truman's remarks bordered on incredulity. He added: "It is difficult to reconcile this with my appointment by him as commander-in-chief of the United Nations command" in Korea. That was last June.

Hits G.O.P.

Mr. Truman also told his news conference yesterday the Republicans are trying to overthrow the foreign policy of the United States.

This brought a retort from Senator Brewster (R-Me), a foreign relations committee member. He told a reporter "we can't overthrow it when we don't know what it is."

The President said he decided he needed a new general in the Far East when MacArthur called on the Chinese Communists in Korea on March 24 to negotiate

Brehm Denied New Trial

WASHINGTON, May 18—(AP)—Rep. Walter E. Brehm, (R-Ohio) was denied a new trial today on charges that he received illegal campaign contributions.

Brehm, a five-term member of Congress, was convicted April 30 of accepting $1,000 from Mrs. Emma S. Craven while she was employed in his Capitol office in 1948.

He has not been sentenced pending his plea for a new trial. Judge Burnita S. Matthews, who rejected the plea, said she would set a date for sentencing later.

Tells of Marion Soldiers' Training

Gen. Naylor Lauds Team Play of U. S. Armed Forces

By ROSE ANN BALDWIN

Brigadier General William Naylor lauded the "team play" of the various branches of service in a speech last night at Hotel Harding in observance of Armed Forces Week. He spoke at a dinner meeting attended by military men, veterans, and service club representatives.

The General pointed out that prior to 1950 each branch of the service celebrated its own day, in its own way, but in the past year, the sea, air and land forces of this country have been welded together into a "team" for the common defense.

In his discussion of the training of the Army part of the "team" he cited as an example the experiences of a Marion man at Camp Pickett, Va., of which he is vice commander.

He is Pvt. Richard J. Castanien, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Castanien of 312 South High street, who was inducted in March.

"Before his induction," stated Gen. Naylor, "this soldier worked at the L and K Sandwich shop

Pleads Guilty To Defrauding State BUC

Farm Hand Given Suspended Sentence, Must Pay Back $404

Lester H. Smothers, 36, a farm laborer of near Martel pleaded guilty in Municipal Court today to a charge of defrauding the State Bureau of Unemployment Compensation of $404 in 1949.

He was given a suspended sentence of $200 and costs and 30 days in jailed, placed on probation for a year and ordered to pay the $404 back to the state.

Charges against him were filed by Earl Weaver of Columbus, special investigator for the claims division of the BUC.

His arrest resulted from a tip given the bureau by a former employer woh informed the state that Smothers had drawn the $404 over a period of 19 weeks whe he was supposed to have been laid off of a $160 per month farm job and that at the time he was employed on another farm at $100 per month.

Testimony in court today disclosed he was working and getting compensation for being unemployed all at the same time. Smothers admitted this, Mr Weaver said. He was charged specifically for illegally drawing compensation during the week of April 9, 1949.

He was picked up on a farm north of Martel last night by Deputy Sheriff Elmer Ullom and held in the county jail for trial today. He was represented by Attorney Paul D. Simpson.

He was being held at the county jail today pending the arrival of Union County sheriff's deputies who will take him to Marysville where he is wanted on a grand jury indictment for non support of a child by his first wife, the sheriff's office reported.

Reds Gain 20 Miles; Drive Nears Seoul

Withering Fire From U.N. Guns Takes Terrific Toll

TOKYO, May 18—(AP)—Communist troop masses attacking with utter disregard of lives today pushed back Allied lines across most of the Korean warfront.

The Reds had gained as much as 20 miles in three days and forced United Nations troops out of their last foothold in North Korea.

The Allied pullback extended from the East Coast for more than 50 miles across the central front.

In the west, Red spearheads thrust within 10 miles of Seoul. They were fighting on both the eastern and northern approaches to the old South Korean capital.

One U. S. division was reported "in great trouble" on the central front. A smaller American unit was overrun and positions of another were breached.

Two South Korean units were badly mauled.

Across the flaming warfront the Communists pressed forward in human sea waves despite massed Allied artillery fire and searing air attacks.

Field dispatches said the toll of Red dead was terrific. But still the Communists poured southward out of the North Korean massing areas.

It appeared to be shaping up as their mightiest drive—one aimed, Red prisoners said, to throw the Allies out of Korea, by the June 25 first anniversary of the Communist invasion.

"Doomed To Failure"

The great Red assault is doomed to failure, Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet confidently told his Allied ground forces.

U.N. massed artillery fired at record speed to cut attacking waves to pieces. Allied airmen complained Friday afternoon that they couldn't find many Red targets.

Field dispatches said the bugle blowing, horn tooting Chinese fell by the thousands under geysering artillery explosions. One U. S. battalion on the central front claimed an all time record for speed of sustained fire.

Barbed wire, strung extensively before U.N. positions in Korea for the first time, was hung with gruesome garlands of Chinese. Two thousand miles of wire were stretched in front of one unit.

Front line dispatches gave this picture Friday night, looking across the front from west to east:

American forces pulled back from Uijongbu, 11 miles north of Seoul. Red screening forces pushed to within 10 miles of the old South Korean capital.

An armored U. N. patrol was stopped 10 miles east of Seoul by a Red mine field covered by automatic weapons fire. A series of Red attacks failed to break U.N. lines in the west-central front Friday. South Koreans patched up the only dent. But massing Chinese, camouflaged by tree branches, hid in the woods ready to renew their assault.

Allies Pull Back

Heavy fighting raged across the central front. The Allied line pulled back.

Chinese poured through a break in South Korean lines. They streamed down the Inje-Hongchon road on the central front.

A veteran American division astride this road was fighting attacks on three sides.

Americans were rushed up to plug the gap cut in two South Korean divisions. South Korean units were badly hurt. Two retreating units were caught in a Chinese ambush. At least one fought its way out. A strong Allied tank column hit the same trap. It escaped down a dry river bed.

AP Correspondent George McArthur reported all U.N. troops had pulled back out of Red Korea. He said the withdrawal through the mountains was orderly.

Rain drenched the battlefields Friday night. Red commanders counted on spring rains to bog down Allied armor and provide protection from the skies for their masses of infantrymen.

Their heaviest weight was thrown against the east-central sector. Up to midnight Thursday

Crippled Children Executive Speaks

Says Cerebral Palsy Victims Can Be Helped

[illegible] Society is interested [illegible] program which will [illegible] handicapped of Ohio [illegible] special education, [illegible] and employ- [illegible] Underwood said in explaining the objectives of the society. For many years after its founding in 1919, the society was concerned chiefly with the orthopedically crippled child only, he stated. Today, it is concerned, within the limits of its resources, with any type of condition which handicaps the child or adult physically, providing it does not duplicate the work of other agencies.

Special Emphasis

"Special emphasis is being given to programs for cerebral palsied children and epileptic people and those having speech defects. Facilities for treatment and care of these disorders are inadequate in Ohio and elsewhere in the nation."

In discussing epilepsy Mr. Underwood said the public is only beginning to realize that newer [illegible] can reduce seizures in approximately 75 percent of the cases. Children with speech difficulties that need attention may be found in almost any classroom in America, he stated.

By way of showing what can be done in the way of treatment of both palsy and epilepsy, the Ohio Society brings some of the country's foremost medical specialists into the state periodically to give demonstrations before groups of doctors, nurses, therapists, teachers and vocational counselors, he said.

Activities of Society

Camping for crippled children and the organization of county societies for crippled children to provided services needed in their communities were cited as continuing activities of the Ohio Society, Mr. Underwood said. There are now more than 70 county societies in the state.

Julian Gardner of Napoleon, district executive secretary of the society, spoke informally on the work and plans for the summer camping program.

Mrs. Clarence L. Ross was elected president, Mr. Hale, vice president, Miss Emily Wolfel, secretary and A. M. Hornby, treasurer.

Serving on the nominating committee were Herbert L. Wade, chairman, Mrs. Fanny Benson and Miss Marie Johnson.

Says Truman Seeks Dictatorial Powers

Scrap Wage-Price Controls, N.A.M. Asks

WASHINGTON, (AP) The National Association of Manufacturers (N.A.M.) today demanded removal of all wage-price controls. It accused President Truman of seeking dictatorial homefront mobilization powers.

A CIO official called for a stronger price control law.

A former Democratic senator now representing a group of automobile sales finance companies charged that the administration of consumer credit controls is "unfair and unjust."

Meat industry spokesmen continued to hammer away at their contention that the government beef price rollback now will result in diminishing supplies and rationing.

The new wage stabilization board was reported ready to punch some holes in the pay-controls dike.

And the leaders of 57 major civilian industries were called to meet today to discuss with the National Production Authority (NPA) government plans to cut their metal supplies by 30 to 35 percent below pre-Korea levels. The proposed cuts were announced only yesterday.

The announcement was made only a few hours after President Truman appealed anew for stronger controls and defense production programs, and said:

The special interests and the lobbies will wreck this stabilization program, as sure as you're born, unless the main body of the citizens of this country get busy and do something about it."

He did not name any "special interests."

N.A.M. President William H. Ruffin said in a statement prepared for the Senate Banking Committee that the broader economic power Mr. Truman wants could lead to destruction of the nation's economic system and would amount to "perhaps the longest single step toward complete government control ever proposed to the American people."

Congress, the association declared, should let authority to curb prices and wage last June 30, when the present law expires.

Wants Stiffer Controlus

James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the C.I.O., proposed a stiffer price control law that "permits dollars-and-cents ceilings, x x x grade labelling and requires maintenance of not only quality goods, but also of low-priced lines."

In a speech prepared for a conference here today of the Americans for Democratic Action (ADA), Carey said:

"In the last year, as the result of a pistol of necessity being placed at our heads by x x x small groups of powerful men and organizations that I call the racketeers of inflation, the American people have paid over an estimated $15,000,000,000 in tribute."

Henry J. Kruse of Seattle, Wash., a director of the Western States Meat Packers Association, told the Senate Banking Committee yesterday that "authority for price, wage and rationing controls should be deleted" from existing laws.

YOUTHFUL HERO IN TROUBLE. Ray R. Villalpando, 21 (right), is comforted by his bride of 12 days after he suffered burned hands saving a middle aged couple from their burning home in Atlanta, Ga. An official at Turner Air Force Base in Albany, Ga. has asked military police in Atlanta to take Villalpando into custody for being AWOL from the Air Base.

BUCYRUS — Appointment of Robert W. Constien of near Galion, as Crawford county bee inspector, was announced here today by county commissioners. There are approximately 150 beekeepers in the county, County Agriculture Agent Russell L. Miller reported.

Truck Crashes Gate; Nearly Hit by Train

An unknown truck driver had a narrow escape from death at 4 a.m. today.

A New York Central passenger train was coming into the city when the engineer saw a truck run through the North Main street crossing gates inches ahead of the train. The train was westbound on the Erie tracks.

He told police the truck was a red semi-trailer outfit. Police immediately put out an alarm for a truck of that description with a damaged front end, but no trace of the vehicle could be found.

The gate was broken, police said. The train was a passenger train going from Cleveland to Bellefontaine. It stopped in Marion.

No Margin for Error

In addressing the national conference on [illegible], President Truman on Thursday made this sound observation:

"Every time a young American citizen keeps [illegible] more difficult and more important [illegible] of the problems before our country become more complicated and more dangerous, our citizens must give greater attention to [illegible] making the basic decision. There is [illegible] for error now than there used to be. Wrong decisions in this day and age may wreck the country, once and for all."

There is, in fact, no margin for error at all. The United States is living and working under the guns of a conspiracy whose principal aim is to destroy it. Until that has been done, the conspiracy will be blocked.

For the first time in its history, America must be mobilized and armed against a tangible threat. Anything which distracts attention from this [illegible] is dangerous. In popular thinking, anything less than a well-rounded and concentrated judgment on national affairs is exactly what the hostile conspirators need to serve their purpose.

They have only one chance of success—that Americans may fumble their responsibility for self-government. The old world never has believed in the American experiment. Old-world statesmen hold it in contempt. They always have predicted that if it ever maintained relentless pressure, the United States would crack up and they would move into the new world.

Mr. Truman raises a painfully pointed question. Are Americans too busy with other matters to guarantee their freedom as a self-governing people?

No Offense Intended

SENATOR DOUGLAS of Illinois may be staging the opening of all current campaigns for a presidential nomination. He keeps saying he is not a big enough man for the job.

It recently has become plain to a number of citizens who never thought about it before that probably no one is a big enough man for the presidency of the United States any more. There are too many demands on the holder of the job. Franklin Roosevelt tried to ease them by getting more assistants. Harry Truman, who has plenty of assistants, cannot keep track of them.

A potential candidate who admitted from the start he could not hope to do the job right would have the public on his side—and no objection seemed to Senator Douglas. He may change his mind when he implies that he does not want to be considered as a presidential possibility.

Shoemaker's Children

In Washington, Columbus and presumably in all other places where decisions about wages for public employees are made, there is a ready-made situation.

Those employees, whatever advantages they may have in their jobs, are always at a disadvantage in dealing with their employers on wages. The reason is obvious.

Their employers—the public—cannot be both-ered. Consequently, the responsibility is shifted to legislators who hesitate to open the unpleasant subject of the public payroll for political reasons.

But people who work for government must eat, pay rent, buy clothes and meet their tax obligations the same as everybody else. In Ohio, H B 150 is a proposal to give them a moderate amount of relief. But there has been no action on it since last February. It appears [illegible] to be lost in the shuffle in Columbus.

That ought not be permitted to happen. A few years will seal any income adjustment. It would be a gross injustice to state employees. The shoemaker's children should not be allowed to go barefoot because the shoemaker is busy making shoes.

Fantastic Delay

It was [illegible] Ohio congressional [illegible] Villages have grown [illegible] disappeared. Population [illegible] Farmlands have been [illegible] to suburbs.

The last reapportionment of 1913 has only an accidental relationship to Ohio's population as existed today. One of the state's 22 districts has [illegible] inhabitants, at the other extreme is a district with less than 170,000. In the meantime, for lack of redistricting, Ohio has one representative with no district at all, which is contrary to the arrangement outlined in the constitution.

Why has this happened?

The answer is partisan politics. Members of the General Assembly have been so eager to make political mileage out of redistricting that they have been unable to approach the problem rationally. But now they have another chance at the next session.

The 1950 census has provided up-to-date figures.

Is Bradley Right?

By David Lawrence

Head of Joint Chiefs Has Been Wrong in Past

WASHINGTON — GENERAL OMAR BRADLEY has been consistently wrong about the strategy of the United States in his testimony heretofore before congressional committees, and hence there is a tendency to question whether he is right now.

The general told the House armed services committee in October 1949 that, because of the use of the atom bomb, he never expected to see another large-scale amphibious landing. But in less than two years he was proved wrong—the United States was compelled to use large and powerful units of its Navy to protect a large-scale landing in Korea involving at first time at least 100,000 troops.

LAWRENCE

General Bradley was one of the members of the Joint Chiefs who, because of their confidence in a one-weapon strategy—the atom bomb—voted against the building of a large-sized naval carrier on the ground that the U. S. Air Force would be adequate to take care of strategic air warfare. Since that time the United States Navy has had to take out of mothballs many aircraft carriers and Congress has authorized the construction of a large-sized carrier on the direct recommendation of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The Navy's aircraft carriers have participated regularly in both strategic and tactical warfare for 10 months in Korea.

TWO YEARS AGO, when General Bradley and some of his associates were testifying before the House armed services committee, the doctrine was being espoused that intercontinental bombers — needing no overseas bases—would take care of an enemy forthwith by bombing 70 of its cities. Today the military men at the Pentagon, including General Bradley are telling the congressional committees who are investigating the MacArthur episode that the United States must not offend its European allies because overseas bases are absolutely essential to American defense of Europe.

General Bradley also has testified this week that to adopt the MacArthur strategy "would involve us in the wrong war, at the wrong place, at the wrong time and with the wrong enemy."

This alliterative remark contradicts the testimony of Secretary Marshall. Presumably General Bradley was referring to a war against Red China as the "wrong enemy." Mr. Marshall testified that, if the MacArthur proposals were adopted, America might become involved in a war with Russia — presumably the "right enemy." He said that Russia might feel obligated to join Red China because of a mutual assistance pact. He also said, in effect, that Russia was really the No. 1 enemy of the United States.

GENERAL BRADLEY'S testimony in the famous B-36 hearings in 1949 indicated a belief that the next war would be fought in Europe and that, for all practical purposes, the Pacific wasn't going to be an area of war. Since that time the Pacific has come into the picture very definitely as a war area, and the U. S. Navy has used lots of warships and personnel to protect the transportation of troops and supplies to the Far East.

The obsession of many military men here is that the enemy will obligingly pick out as the place for the start of a war the exact spot that the defending country expects him to attack.

This was the state of mind, too, of our military men at the time of Pearl Harbor. All the top commanders here, both in the Army and the Navy, predicted that if Japan struck it would be in the Far East or in southeast Asia. Japan refused to oblige our strategists and chose Pearl Harbor instead, inflicting severe losses on our ships and men and on our shore installations.

Our intelligence system at that time was working effectively and messages were being decoded showing Japanese intentions but in Washington the complacency of the high command was such that proper messages of warning never were sent out to Admiral Kimmel and General Short at Pearl Harbor. These two commanders were never court-martialed because too much of the blame would have had to be shared by the high commanders in Washington.

IT IS, OF COURSE, irritating to the one-weapon school of thought to have the Kremlin pick out the Far East as a place to present its challenge. Logically, the Kremlin should have started long before this a war against Yugoslavia. This would have fitted in with the one-area war concept held here. Unfortunately Moscow has chosen the Far East and southeast Asia as the places to start her conquest. While everyone here concedes that Russia is behind Red China, it still is assumed that a "local" war can be fought in Korea. Moscow may have its own ideas on how to prolong that war indefinitely.

To understand the fallacy of General Bradley's quip, it is only necessary to search for a single case in the history of military operations wherein the defending country was fully prepared to fight the right war, in the right place, at the right time. Enemies do not operate so obligingly. And that's why global defense is necessary—and global defense nowadays means effective resistance in both Asia and Europe.

Summer Furniture

By TRUMAN TWILL

SPEAKING of summer furniture makes a fellow remember the fuddy-duddy days when people in ordinary circumstances never had any. They had something better.

They had regular furniture that had deteriorated to a point where it had only one more step to go before the junkman took possession. That made it suitable for using on the porch. By that token, it became "porch furniture."

It also could be used on the lawn which made it "lawn furniture." It cost nothing extra except the paint that might be used on it, if the finish needed sprucing up. And if it fell apart, thereby cheating the junk man, the remains became kindling. It was a good deal from beginning to end.

In those fuddy-duddy days before it was compulsory to own separate and distinct units of furniture for outside use, the master minds who design houses had not yet removed the attics and substituted a garage for a barn. There was plenty of room for everything. Space was never at a premium.

Things are flossier now, with more clutter and no place to keep any of it. Besides extra furniture for use on lawns and porches, there also must be storage space found for forty-eleven storm windows, half a ton of empty tin cans and glass jars, equipment for table tennis and the overflow from that inexhaustible source of printed matter, the Book of the Month Club.

All this besides off-season clothing, mutilated lamp shades, relics that cannot be thrown away, and the paraphernalia indispensable to life and health must be jammed into a space no larger than one old-fashioned kitchen with pantry attached.

For those who do not know how it is done, never having had to do it, the deepest puzzle of modern times is not how whatzisname makes Kukla, Ollie and the other puppets go through those motions but where life-sized human beings keep their possessions in a doll house.

That may explain the popularity of summer furniture — there is no room left inside the houses after winter overcoats, galoshes and blankets have been stowed away so people have to go outside to breathe during warm weather. The handiest thing to have around, under the circumstances, is some collapsible furniture that can be stored overhead in the one-car garage between summers.

There was nothing collapsible about anything in the fuddy-duddy days—and no need for it. What couldn't be stored in the attic or the fifth bedroom that no one ever used could be stored in the barn. And was. Otherwise, there never could have been an antique business. Nearly all the stuff that ended up by being priceless had to be made that way by occasional thunder showers and storage in barns in the good old summertimes and wintertimes of yesteryear.

Steps To Check Inflation

By Marion B. Folsom

THE CHOICES facing the American people are inadequate defense, more inflation, higher taxes—or some combination of all three.

The first task to attract national attention after the Communist invasion of Korea was the need for rapid expansion of military and productive capacity to counter the immediate attack and deter future aggression. That job seems well in hand.

The second problem, inflation, arose from the first. Up to now, the inflationary pressure has been largely psychological. Individuals and businesses have stepped up their buying in an effort to protect themselves against expected higher prices and shortages. From here on in, inflationary factors are likely to be less psychological but no less actual in destructive effect.

To oversimplify for the sake of illustration, the quick shift to heavy defense production means more money is paid to the wage-earners to make things they can't buy—tanks, planes, guns and facilities to make even more of the same things. Purchasing power will be rising faster than the supply of things we all want to buy. The situation is similar with respect to businesses.

The problem, then, is to siphon off this extra purchasing power and put it to useful work, until supply can be increased enough to absorb it.

Since shortly after the Korean outbreak, the Committee for Economic Development has been advocating a program formulated by its research and policy committee to block inflation without impairing production. Briefly, that program provides for curtailment of non-essential spending by governments as well as private individuals and business, higher taxes, restraints on credit, and encouragement of saving.

Mr. Folsom, chairman of the Committee for Economic Development, which is an outstanding organization of business executives interested in national problems, also is a member of the Mobilization Advisory Board for Industry and treasurer of Eastman Kodak Co.

THE COMMITTEE recently recommended a one-step tax increase of $10,000,000,000, to be enacted as fast as possible. It also recommended that the $74,000,000,000 of cash expenditures proposed in the federal budget for fiscal 1951-52 be cut by $6,000,000,000.

C.E.D. estimated that its tax proposals, plus a minimum reduction of $3,000,000,000 in the budget, would put the government on a pay-as-you-go basis for the fiscal year, which begins July 1. With the $6,000,000,000 cutback in proposed expenditure increases, C.E.D.'s tax plan would be highly desirable in the drive to stabilize the economy.

There is uncertainty as to what the government's cash expenditures will be in the fiscal year ending in June, 1952. The important thing, in C.E.D.'s opinion, is that spending be held down and taxes raised sufficiently at least to balance cash expenditures in the new fiscal year as a whole.

It must be borne in mind that current budget surpluses do not give a fair picture of the situation we face. Most of the current excess of income over outgo is due to the seasonal peak of tax collections and the lag between orders and payment for defense production. These payments will mount rapidly in the next fiscal year. Unless taxes are raised promptly, deficits will begin to add fuel to the fires of inflation this summer.

THE NEED FOR more than budget balances or surpluses to cure inflation is amply demonstrated by the experience of the past few months. Though the government was taking in money faster than it was spending it—at a rate of about $2,000,000,000 surplus a year—the consumers' price index rose about 7 percent. This was mainly because of the great increase in business and consumer spending, financed by an expansion of bank credit and a reduction in the desire to save. The $9,000,000,000 increase in bank credit to private and local-government borrowers in the second half of 1950 was certainly a major inflationary factor. C.E.D. has consistently advocated that the Federal Reserve System be permitted to use its powers over the availability and supply of the banking system's reserves to control the expansion of bank credit. The steps recently taken in this direction are encouraging.

It remains to be seen whether the steps signify adequate recognition of the fact that the costs of an anti-inflationary monetary policy in the form of higher interest burden on the federal debt cannot be compared with the costs of greater inflation.

IN VIEW of the present differences of opinion about monetary policy and debt management and the need for greater public understanding of the issues involved, the C.E.D. is again urging its 1948 proposal that Congress establish a national monetary commission to make recommendations on the policies which should be followed in the control of money and credit.

One aspect of stabilization policy that has been seriously neglected is the promotion of voluntary private saving. The government's responsibilities in keeping the community as a whole from trying to buy more goods than are available is clear; economy in its own expenditures, increasing taxes and tightening credit. But the action of private individuals can decide the success or failure of the effort to curb inflation.

Each member of our free society has a responsibility to assist in preserving it, by saving and by buying only what he needs at the time he needs it.

In the final analysis, the burden of defense falls upon all of us as individuals. Some groups may seek to achieve a favorable position at the expense of others, but in the end the burden must be borne by all the people.

In a country which enjoys the highest living standard in the world, the burden of the projected defense program can be borne without real suffering.

There will be shortages and dislocations, but hardship and real austerity are not in sight. Every effort to escape from the common responsibility will add to the force of inflation and aggravate its injustices.

Organize To Hold Men

SINGAPORE — (AP) — Malay women want to hold their husbands. They're banding together to fight "easy divorce." Women members of the United Malays National Organization are demanding to know why a man should be able to say "I want a divorce" and get it. And it's really easy. All a Moslem has to do to get a divorce is to tell his wife he wants one. This, say the Malay women, is "disgracefully" simple. They added women had no protection at all and the husband was not compelled to pay for their maintenance.

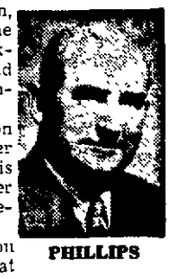
The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Senate War Probe

An impression of the question-and-answer Senate Committee hearings on the Korean issue by a newspaper reader who has made an all-out effort to read the voluminous newspaper transcripts and at the same time keep a sketchy account of other news:

Q.—I wish to say that I appreciate the witness's patience and candor and think the explanations have been pretty full. Nevertheless I shall go over the whole ground. I shall be very brief. (Laughter.) Now then, in view of what we did in the Greek crisis, how do you explain Formosa, bearing in mind Hong Kong and Mickey Mantle?



PHILLIPS

A.—I will have to check on that but I think my answer would be yes. Mr. Acheson is in a better position to answer that, however. (Ten lines deleted.)

Q.—I am glad to hear you say that, sir. Now was that before the double-header or are you referring to the morning game?

A.—Will you repeat that (four words deleted) question?

Q.—Yes. What I am asking is, assuming the Soviets are massing in Manchuria and the letter sent on the sixteenth did not reach him until the fourteenth, do we need somebody like Durocher to take over at this time?

A.—You mean since the Giant slump and up to the Pusan discussion, irrespective of Yalta and Rex Barney? My answer is (one word deleted) no.

Q.—Who's on first?

A.—That is beyond my province. Personally I would take out the pitcher and send in Alvin Dark. But you must bear in mind this was in (one three-letter word deleted) month (one two-letter word deleted) August, 1946, with two out and a man on third. (Final score deleted for security reasons.)

Q.—But in what sense was General MacArthur wrong, even if the Saxony Hotel loan had been repaid by Mr. Dawson at the close of the spring training? In other words should we act against the China mainland at this time or bunt? I am speaking of the seventh inning.

A.—No, the sixth. We had just finished the eighth.

Q.—How could it be the seventh if we had finished the eighth?

A.—Because of the international dateline. We lose an inning or vice versa. (Fifteen sentences deleted, ten sentences dismissed and one put on probation.)

Q.—True, but was this vice versa properly considered by all joint chiefs of staff or otherwise what of Yugoslavia, inflation, Iran and the short left field fences?

A.—I would need to check on that. I left when they took out Erskine and sent in Palica with (name deleted) on second and (deleted) on first. Does that clear it up?

Q.—Yes, except with relation to Potsdam, DiSalle, the satellites and our added fire power since the O'Dwyer incident. What is your opinion on that?

A.—You are getting too political for me. I am only a military man. The Preakness is something you should take up with the President.

Q.—You mean Ford Frick or Casey Stengel? And will you clarify it by stating whether you mean daylight saving, standard time or medium well?

A.—That would depend on the weight, the Chicago convention, Stalin's intentions and Kefauver's Near East policy.

Q.—Good! Now I ask you this question (deleted).

Chairman—We will now recess for lunch, rain checks and whatever box scores have come in.

Climax Nears

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

THE CLIMAX of the long battle for Korea appears at hand.

The present attacks by the Chinese Reds seem to be the initial phase of the gigantic offensive they have been building toward for more than three months.

Can the Allies stop it this time? The Peiping radio has renewed its boasts that the U. N. forces will soon be driven into the sea. It says the Red troops already have shown that "the United States is nothing but a paper tiger which can be completely defeated in due time."

HAL BOYLE

The climactic struggle on the actual battlefield begins with the American Congress and the American people still divided in "the great debate" over how best to win victory in Korea.

But whether the MacArthur or the administration military policy is followed, no quick end to the war is in sight. The average G. I. feels the rotation is more likely to get him out of Korea than a sudden Allied triumph.

CHIANG KAI-SHEK has added a realistic and depressing footnote to the situation. The generalissimo says that even if his Formosa army of 500,000 had all the supplies it needed, it would still take him six months to launch an attack on the Chinese mainland.

How about bombing Chinese supply bases in Manchuria, as General MacArthur has recommended? Army circles feel American airpower would be promptly unleashed to do this very thing—if the Red planes ever begin serious bombing and strafing attacks on our ground troops. Public opinion here would probably force this measure.

But would this mean a quick end to the campaign? Most professional military men doubt it. Our airpower can wear down the enemy by steady attrition; but it cannot stab him to death. The peculiar nature of an Oriental foot army makes it the most difficult type of army for airpower to destroy.

THERE IS ALSO, of course, the real possibility, as General Marshall has warned, that the bombing of Manchuria might bring Soviet Russia into the war under terms of its mutual assistance pact with Red China.

What then can end the Korean War? The present policy still seems to be to go on killing trained Red troops until China becomes unwilling to accept her vast losses.

That leaves two questions in Korea. Can our army protect itself in the face of the tidal waves of enemy infantry now being hurled at it? Is there any method by which we can destroy more Chinese than we have been?

The answer to the second question lies in whether the American army has certain secret weapons ready for use—and whether, if they are ready, it intends to use them in Korea.

CHIEF AMONG THEM is atomic artillery. Army Chief of Staff Collins once said he had seen nothing to convince him the atom bomb should be employed tactically in Korea.

But in such an offensive as the present there certainly should be a tactical use for any engine or gun that can hurl atomic shells into areas where the Red enemy is massed.

There is a great and natural reluctance to the further use of atomic power in warfare. Some regard it as immoral. But to others it would seem equally immoral to go on risking American lives in a war that has cost us more than 60,000 casualties—if there is a weapon available powerful enough to halt further slaughter altogether.

If the crisis in Korea mounts, this question of employing the deadly energy of the atom is going to become more and more important.

Good Risks

By Inez Robb

NEW YORK

MEN and their big, fat mouths! Can't keep secrets for sour grapes. And all that fraternization once they're in uniform and overseas—no telling to whom they'll yak, yak, yak, or what, for that matter.

On the other hand, put an American woman in her country's uniform, assign her overseas and she doesn't (1) fraternize or (2) talk out of the wrong side of her rosy mouth to the wrong person.

Inez Robb

That's one of the reasons why the armed services prayerfully hope to have a minimum of 80,000 women in WAF and WAC uniforms by midsummer, 1952. That's four times as many as at present.

"You can put women on highly classified jobs overseas because they're close-mouthed and they don't fraternize," said Col. Mark A. Hallaren, head of the Women's Army Corps. "They aren't going to talk and especially not to an alien suitor."

COL. GERALDINE P. MAY, head of the WAF, nodded agreement.

None of the 300 WACs assigned to the Manhattan (A-bomb) project during World War II ever told so much as the time of the day to anyone, which, is more than can be said for certain other members of the armed forces, notably of the male sex, who spied and gabbed like anything.

Both colonels, who were in town the other day to get the new recruiting programs off to a head start, said that, neither the WAC nor WAF can begin to fill the requisitions for highly trained women specialists.

Col. Hallaren, who was born to be christened the little colonel (less than five feet, two, with eyes of blue), said the Army is clamoring for women trained as cartographers, map compilers, photographers, X-ray technicians, illustrators, translators, intelligence analysts, neuro-psychiatric technicians, shoe repairmen and two score other specialists.

"We don't replace men; we complement them," Col. Hallaren said firmly, trying to dispose of the old canard that women in uniform simply supplant sad sacks in sinecures.

THE WAC, WITH A present personnel of 10,000 and an officer corps of 1,000, hopes to triple the number of enlisted women and double the number of officers by June, 1952.

Col. May has an even bigger job. She hopes to expand the present WAF enlisted personnel from 7,000 to 45,000 by July, 1952, and the present officer corp from 400 to 4,000.

The Air Force is beating on her door, asking for WAFs trained in weather observation, communications, air raid warning, medicine, photography, control tower duties, parachutes, intelligence, all phases of radio operation, cryptography and photo mapping.

There are already a few WAFs in training in the army engineering school at Fort Belvoir.

"WAF personnel assigned to air raid work will be trained in radar schools," said Col. May, who is only two sizes larger than Col. Hallaren.

BOTH THE WAC and the WAF are inaugurating new officer procurement programs. The WAF will soon begin to give direct commissions at the rate of 200 a month to qualified young women between the ages of 24 and 32, who are college graduates.

The Women's Corps will commission qualified college graduates between the ages of 21 and 39, in an attempt to recruit trained specialists in various fields.

Both colonels expect the bulk of the enlisted personnel in the future to come directly from high school into the armed services, as at present.

The pay? Seventy-five dollars a month for buck private to $198.45 for master sergeant to $456 for a lt. colonel with two years' service.

Are the women worth it? The colonels were asked.

"They are used every place but in armed combat and truck loading," Col. May said proudly.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

THERE'S a new intimacy between President Truman and his old labor friends who, only a few weeks ago, had sent word that they cared little what happened to him politically in 1952.

This friendship means that a Truman-labor coalition will decide just how this country prepares for war. This was the impression left with some of the National leaders who conferred with the President Tuesday behind the closed doors of his Cabinet chamber. It was also the feeling among the crack experts who wait in that nearby staff room for the war mobilization chief's to pop out of the bigger parley for technical advice, so it can me, in turn, handed to the President.

Victor Riesel

It means that the labor leaders are certain they can move the nation's number one mobilizer, Charles Wilson, out of Washington and replace him with Eric Johnston by Christmas.

This swift swing of labor into power came when Mr. Truman suddenly discovered he needed friends—and he could find them most quickly inside labor.

WHAT HAPPENED to make these estranged politicos bedfellows?

Mr. Truman had been embarrassed by the Kefauver crime probe which wound up Democratic New York—and by the still unreeling MacArthur crisis. Until then despite the thoroughly respectful references the labor leaders always use publicly when they discuss the President of the U. S. —they were saying he was "cocky and disdainful" of their demands. Then came the biggest TV show of all, and the removal of a warring commander.

There is no doubt that the labor chiefs were sincere in what they did. And they did it. But they were not unaware of the quid pro quo—and they needed influence in the White House. No labor combine can operate effectively without it. And so they defended Mr. Truman.

THE ENERGETIC A.F.L. political leader, Joe Keenan, who in the past few years has developed into one of the country's most nimble and astute political strategists, wrote to many of his followers that:

"The papers are full of mink coats, McCarthy and MacArthur. Public morals and RFC loans make headlines while Costello's hands attract the all-time TV audience. Congressional investigations are the order of the day . . . We can expect this headline hunting from here on until 1952 . . .

"Your A. F. L. union officers keep driving home the point that you must not let these scandals take your eyes off what the reactionary politicians are doing to you . . .

"Your unions have between 70 and 80 legislative agents in Washington at any one time. These men are constantly reporting back to your national and local officers. They know what is going on. It is more important than ever before to follow their conclusions and advice. Election day in 1952 is not really so far off. We have a big job to do. If we do our part, there is a fighting chance we can replace the worst reactionary scandal-mongers with some real statesmen."

AND KEENAN, right now, is in Chicago conferring with other A.F.L. chiefs on revival of their political league, which they permitted to run down when they decided earlier this year to sit on their hands and purses during the '52 campaign.

And just as swiftly did the C.I.O. defend President Truman on the General MacArthur issue. They flashed telegrams to the White House from such respected and influential C.I.O. leaders as Jack Potofsky, Sidney Hillman's successor at the men's clothing union. He telegraphed the President that, "Your forthright decisive action (in relieving MacArthur) . . . deserves the wholehearted support of every right thinking American . . ." Every other C. I. O. leader did likewise. And their union papers printed the original wire, and Mr. Truman's warm reply, which, in Potofsky's case, said in part:

". . . having thoughtful persons like yourself understand and approve the action is of tremendous importance not only to me but the the future of our country . . . may your number increase . . . You and the Amalgamated Clothing Workers . . . have my highest regards . . .

THERE WERE other factors in the Truman-labor reconciliation. But these were dominant in the White House. Naturally labor leaders will now attempt to get what they can for their followers. After the 1,200 wage increase cases now before the new and friendly war wage board are approved, there will be thousands more.

And watch for new organizing drives, such as the C.I.O. Oil Workers launched quietly in New York the other day when their leader, Jack Knight, flew in from Denver to look over the biggest of them all, the Standard Oil Companies of New York and New Jersey. There's more coming.

Just before World War II, the United States imported about four million pounds of ginger a year.

Marion Garden Center Notes

MAY POINTERS

Early in May the vegetable garden begins to take shape. The soil condition determines how early the planting should take place. Cold, wet soil is not a good medium for growing tender seeds and it is surprising how waiting even a few more days can change soil conditions. Plant out when you think there is no more likelihood of frost, not before. A fairly safe barometer for telling when to plant corn and string beans is the dogwood tree. When it blooms it is usually safe to go ahead. Late in May the lima beans can be planted, but they are susceptible to rot if the soil is too cold. Cucumber, squash and melon are sown late in May, also. Tender vegetable plants to set out this month include tomatoes, peppers and egg plants. Peppers will fruit best in soil that is not fertilized. Thinning vegetable plants is quite important. Thin carrots, beets and onions to 1 to 2 inches apart. Unthinned vegetables will be poor and often roots are curled around their neighbors. Thin when plants are small. Nitrate of soda helps to make quick leaf growth if fed to lettuce, cabbage, cauliflower and broccoli. One tablespoon around each plant will work wonders, once a season is sufficient.

Weddings

In the Nevada Methodist Church Friday evening, May 11, a Nevada and Bucyrus couple, Miss Jeannette Healy and Charles W. Baehr, were united in marriage. The bride is the daughter of Mr and Mrs. Stephen Healy of Nevada, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baehr of Bucyrus. The double ring ceremony was read at 7:30 o'clock by Rev. E. J. Katterhenrich of the Bucyrus Good Hope Lutheran Church, and Rev. W. H. Ayers, pastor of the Nevada Methodist Church, offered prayer.

Music was by Kenneth Kissling of Heidelberg University at Tiffin, organist, and Robert Caldwell of Bucyrus and Mrs. Richard Healy of Nevada, vocalists.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin styled with a fitted bodice trimmed with self covered buttons. Her jewelry was a strand of pearls, and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses showered with white satin streamers.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Lavonne Schmitzer of Marsfield, and bridesmaid was Mrs. Pearletta Larick.

Edward Baehr of Cleveland, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man, and ushers were Richard Healy, brother of the bride, Ralph Baehr, brother of the bridegroom, and Newton Calhoun, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

A reception was held in the church dining room following the ceremony. The couple left on a wedding trip through the northwestern states and Canada. They will reside in a new home on East Warren street in Bucyrus.

Mrs. Baehr is a graduate of Bucyrus High School with the class of 1945. Mr. Baehr, a graduate of Bucyrus High School in 1944, is a veteran of 21 months' service with the Air Corps in World War II. Both are employed with the General Electric Mfg. Co. in Bucyrus.

Past Presidents Are Honored

Harding Luncheon Closes Season For Federation of Women's Clubs

PAST presidents were honored when the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs closed the 1950-51 season with a luncheon Wednesday at Hotel Harding. Annual reports were given and some of the highlights of the coming club year announced.

Mrs Walter E. Hane, who completed the first year of her two-year term as president of the federation, presided. Attending were officers, chairmen, retiring and incoming presidents of the more than 30 clubs comprising the county organization. Covers were placed for more than 70 at tables decorated with tulips, white and lavender lilacs, and greenery, in a spring theme.

Past presidents presented by Mrs. Hane included Mrs. W. H. Holverstott of Columbus, dean of past presidents, who served in 1916 and 1917, Mrs W. N. Harder, 1919-21 and 1944-46, Mrs. H. K. Henderson, 1925-26, Mrs. Lewis Uhl, 1926-28, Mrs H. K. Mouser, 1930-32, Mrs. Grover C. Snyder, 1932-34, Mrs. Paul Knauss, 1934-36, Mrs. Everett Grigsby, 1936-38, Mrs. Dale Lawrence, 1948-1950. Each wore a gardenia corsage, a gift from the federation. Greetings were received from Mrs. DePew Head of Columbus, who served as president from 1923 to 1925, and Mrs. Carl W. Sawyer, president from 1942 to 1944. Mrs. Holverstott, member and past president of the Research Club, is an honorary member of the club. Also unable to be present were Mrs. John Guthery who served as head of the federation from 1921 to 1923, Mrs. J. T. McNamara, 1928-30 and Mrs. J. A. Lott, president from 1938 to 1940.

Memorial Conducted

A memorial for members whose deaths occurred during the last club year was conducted. As the names of the deceased members were read by Mrs. Harry Lurye, memorial chairman, Mrs. Dan G. Hale and Mrs. Charles Ellery placed a white rose in a vase on the main table.

Reports by the various chairmen accented the achievements of the club year which included honors received in local, district and state projects. The members were urged to include a conservation program and also to acquaint themselves with the activities of the state and national federation during the coming club year. As in former years the federation will sponsor a series of programs open to club members and patrons and patronesses. By popular request Spencer Irwin of the Cleveland Plain Dealer staff, will again come to Marion. He is associate editor and foreign affairs columnist on the newspaper.

A pre-season project of the clubs will be the sale of articles made by the blind of the state at the Marion County Fair in August. The local federation ranked first in the state in the 1950-51 sales and was awarded a cash prize at the state federation convention in April at Akron. Clubs are urged to apply for their consignments early in the club year. Recordings, equipment and other articles needed at the sight-saving school at George Washington building are purchased by the federation from the prize money. Some of the money will be used for a portable booth for the sale of articles at the county fair.

Expresses Thanks

In her informal talk to the group Mrs. Hanes expressed appreciation of the cooperation of the clubs during her year as head of the federation. The federation, she stated, is a clearing house for the clubs. "There is strength in the combined group," she added and pointed out that the federation is not just for one club but belongs to all clubs. She asked the cooperation of the incoming presidents and pointed out the importance of having either the president or representative at each board meeting monthly. Board meetings will be held at the Women's Club Home starting in September.

During the business session, Iota Alpha Chapter of Pi Omicron National Sorority was enrolled as a participating group in the federation. Also it was voted to establish a fund to finance the annual community fine arts day with money received through the sale of articles and food at the Art Mart held at the fine arts day earlier this month. One new club, the Mid-Century Club, was welcomed into the federation during the past year. A future project of the federation will be the furnishing of a room in the proposed new city hospital.

The program opened with "The Lord's Prayer," sung by Mrs. DeJon Morrall Hassell, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. H. K. Mouser. Completing the musical part of the program were two numbers, "Hail Ohio," the words and music of which are by Mrs. Harold K. Mouser, and "Old Soldiers Never Die," both by Mrs. Hassell. The group joined her in the singing of the Ohio number.

Mrs. C. L. Van Arsdell of Columbus was a guest.

Committees In Charge

Mrs. James H. Ralston, chairman, and the social committee were in charge of the luncheon plans and decorations were by Miss Mabel Wheatley.

Preceding the board meeting the Past Presidents Gavel Club held a meeting and elected Mrs. Lewis Uhl, president and Mrs. Paul Knauss, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Wayne Jenkins, representing the club presidents and Mrs. Lester L. Dickey the club chairmen, together with the federation officers will carry on any business arising during the summer recess.

Personal Mention

Mrs. Idabell Hill of Gallipolis is a guest this week at the home of her mother, Mrs. Milton Thompson of 201 Waterloo street. She arrived Wednesday and expects to visit here until Sunday.

Harding Trackmen Ready for District

By JOHN SHORT

Harding Track Coach Ken Somerlot will send 20 Prexy thinclads into action tomorrow in the Central District Class A track meet at Delaware. At least one Harding runner will go in each event, he said.

The Harding tracksters' have been dimmed by ace dash man Dan Day's pulled leg muscle. The speedy Day injured the leg in last week's Buckeye League meet at Fostoria and may not be entered tomorrow. Somerlot said he hopes to use Day as a member of the Harding 880 relay crew. The leg will be given a thorough workout in a practice session tonight to determine whether Day is set to go.

Finals in Afternoon

Preliminary dash and field events will be started at 10 a.m. at the Ohio Wesleyan track. Finals are set for the afternoon.

Sixteen district schools will be represented in the Class A meet by some 212 contestants. Class B schools have a total of 182 entries from 19 schools. Columbus Central, defending champion and winner of 16 previous titles, is odds-on favorite to cop the A title again. Marysville is expected to edge Hillards and Gahanna Lincoln, last year's winner, for the B crown.

End Season

The district meet will end Harding's regular track season. Any boy placing first or second in the events at Delaware will travel to Columbus next Friday and Saturday for the state meet.

Harding is the only school from this area in the Class A meet. Class B schools and the number of participants entered are as follows: Pleasant, 6; Morral, 4; Richwood, 13; Marysville, 16, Sparta, 8; and Brown, 6.

Rickey Beaming With Pleasure Over His Bucs

PITTSBURGH, May 17—(UP)—Branch Rickey, beaming his pleasure with a "great experiment" that gave Pittsburgh one of the hardest-hitting infields in the National League, saw visions today of his Pirates finishing in the first division.

He called the Pirate infield, with Ralph Kiner at first and Wally Westlake at third, nothing short of "Great." His only concern was pitching

He said the mound corps lacked depth, although it has shown surprising stamina so are in the race. Rickey noted that some of the Buc hurlers were young, inexperienced and had "one foot in the Army."

But if the infield can retain its batting power and continue its sharp defensive work, I could become very optimistic about winning a first division berth," he said.

Rickey and field manager Bill Meyers, who first recognized Westlake's potentialities as a third baseman, apparently were so pleased with the present infield lineup that they traded Shortstop Stan Rojek to the St. Louis Cardinals for relief Pitcher Eve Dusak and First Baseman Glenn Nelson. Rickey would not comment on how Meyer planned to use Nelson, but intimated that Dusak might be reconverted into an outfielder.

Reds Beat Best Braves Have To Offer

CINCINNATI, May 18—(AP)—For three straight days the Boston Braves put up the best they had in pitching. And they lost every game with Cincinnati.

It wasn't that the Boston club couldn't offer much—Vern Bickford, Johnny Sain and Warren Spahn rank among the great names in modern day baseball hurling. It was just that the Reds were sizzling and offered a bit of eye-opening pitching themselves.

By sweeping the series, Cincinnati ran its streak to five straight and hustled into a tie with St. Louis for fifth place, just 1½ games out of the top spot.

Yesterday's game was an example of what happens when someone lights a fire under the Queen City club. Willard Ramsdell wavered badly toward the end and finally had to be given a helping hand by Harry Perkowski and Frank Smith, but the Reds had given their pitching staff a 6-0 lead which saw them safely through.

Johnny Wyrostek, currently the hottest clutch hitter in the local aggregation, whammed a three-run double to left centerfield in the third after Lloyd Merriman and Virgil Stallcup singled and Connie Ryan was passed purposely.

Ryan showed that the Boston masterminds weren't so wrong in deciding to walk him. He tied into a Spahn pitch in the fifth that hit the leftfield foul-line pole and rebounded onto the playing field for a three-run homer.

TROTS TO UPSET

AURORA, Ill., May 18—(INS)—Brave scored an upset victory last night in the featured mile trot at Aurra Downs. The winner came home in a tidy 2:12 4/5, edging King Tom, Royal Court and Chief Nutonia paired victories in the first and second races.

THE DUKE IS TRAPPED. Brooklyn Dodgers Outfielder Duke Snider (center) is trapped between third and home during attempt to score on Jackie Robinson's single in first inning at Wrigley Field in Chicago. Chicago Cubs Catcher Forrest Burgess (11) takes throw from Third Baseman Ransom Jackson (right) but Snider eluded them and was tagged out by Shortstop Jack Cusick (not shown). Cubs won, 7-0.

Demchuck Wins Comeback Bout

Johnny Demchuck, former M.W.A. champion, notched another win on his comeback string last night at the armory by whipping Kit Fox in two straight falls.

Demchuck introduced a new hold to the Marion wrestling scene, the rolling toe hold. He took the first fall in 16 minutes after heaving Fox from the ring and came back to take the second in 11 minutes.

Chris Belkas and Buck Weaver wrestled to a draw in their 45-minute bout. Weaver took the first fall with a flying reverse head and chin lock in 14 minutes and Belkas came back to take the second with a reversed double arm lock.

Elvira Snodgrass whipped Ann Stanley in a grudge match for the winner-take-all purse. Snodgrass won the first fall with a body slam after 13 minutes but dropped the second when Stanley pinned her with monkey flips in 11 minutes. Snodgrass ended the final fall in four minutes with body slams.

Gorgeous Gus, the 600-pound wrestling bear will be pitted against Man Mountain Dean Jr. in one bout next week, Promoter Les Fishbaugh announced.

Bird-McGinnis In Game Here Sunday

Bird-McGinnis Post 162, American Legion, will play a doubleheader Sunday at Garfield Park. The Delaware Indians, perennial softball power in this district, will meet the locals at 7 p.m., while Ashland Lumber will furnish the opposition in the nightcap at 8:30. The Ashland squad was district A.A.U. champs last season.

Association Race Standings Change

By The Associated Press

Kansas City was in first place in the American Association baseball race today. The Blues last night ousted Milwaukee from the lead it had since April 26 by beating the Brewers, 2-1.

Standings underwent a general shakeup after last night's play. Minneapolis remained in third with a 4-3 victory over last place St. Paul. Toledo buzzed into fourth ahead of Columbus by taking the Red Birds, 9-8, and Louisville stepped into sixth ahead of Indianapolis with a 7-3 win over the Indians.

Odds Favor Gavilan Over Bratton

NEW YORK, May 18—(AP)—Kid Gavilan, the sleek Cuban hawk, is a solid 2 to 1 choice to whip Chicago's Johnny Bratton tonight in a 15-round bout for the welterweight championship vacated by Sugar Ray Robinson.

Bratton already holds a piece of the title, winning N.B.A. recognition by grabbing a split decision over Charlie Fusari at Chicago in March. But New York State awaits the result of this Madison Square Garden battle before giving its blessing.

Advance sales indicate a crowd of some 10,000 and a $50,000 gate, despite the network Radio (ABC) and television (NBC) coverage. The bout goes on at 9 p.m. (EST).

The winner must meet New York's Billy Graham within 60 days to get universal recognition. Later the survivor probably will have to fight Britain's claimant, Eddie Thomas.

This shapes up as an interesting scrap between two "flurry" fighters who try to make friends and convince judges with spurts of concerted action. Bratton is the stiffer puncher but he does not take a wallop like the iron-jawed Keed.

The records favor Gavilan who has won 72, lost 12 and fought three draws. He never has been stopped. Bratton, knocked out twice by Beau Jack and Ike Williams, has 43 wins in 61 starts. He has lost 16 and fought two draws. Of the 43 wins, 25 were knockouts. Gavilan stopped only 20.

Mangrum Trails After 1st Round

DEL MAR, Calif., May 18—(AP)—An overloaded field swings into the second round of the $4,000 California Open golf tournament today with Fred Morrison of Riverside holding a one stroke lead.

The tournament is a starter's headache, with 255 performers entered. So cumbersome is the field, in fact, that darkness fell yesterday before nearly 20 golfers could finish the first round.

Morrison, the only three time winner of the California crown, slipped three strokes off par on the Rancho Santa Fe Country Club links with a 34-35—69.

Behind him were Jimmy Clark of Laguna Beach and Zell Eaton of Montebello, each with cards of 34-36—70.

Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, the favorite, ran into trouble on the 11th and 13th holes and came in with an even par 72. He finished behind Ralph Guldahl of Los Angeles, who fired a 37-34—71.

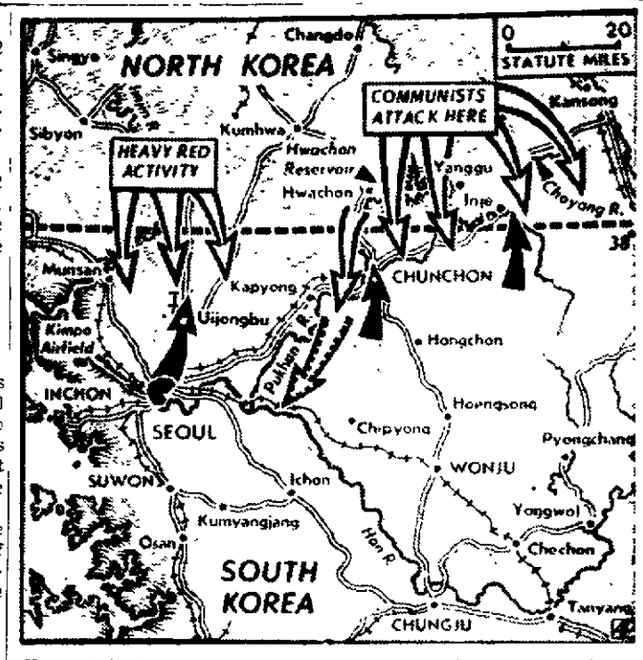
A picnic was planned for June 20 at the home of Mrs. Robert Burton. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Maddox.



WHERE REDS ATTACK. Open arrows from boxes show where Reds were attacking in Korea yesterday. Solid arrows indicate Allied moves. Reds unleashed a series of attacks from the Chunchon area eastward to the coast. Some ground was lost by Allies northeast of Inje and at Chunchon. The enemy was infiltrating southward into the Pushan river valley with a possible objective (broken arrow) the Han river and a move to pinch off Seoul Heavy Red activity was noted north of Seoul.

Major Thomas M. Nial

From H. K. W. of Houston, Tex.: "I'm a naval reserve quartermaster. If recalled, how long will I have to serve?"

Present law says 21 months is the maximum, but the Navy says the average tour for enlisted volunteer (non-drill-pay) reservists will be from 15 to 17 months. Some may be out after only 12 months. The tour for enlisted organized reservists will approximate 19 to 20 months, and none will be released short of 15 months

From W. L. B. of Washington, D. C.: "Under the new free G. I. insurance law, will I get any refund of NSLI premiums because I've been on active duty since the Korean war began?"

No. After this June 2 you may waive all your premiums while on active duty if yours is an NSLI term policy. If it's a permanent policy, you may either cash it in and remain insured free for $10,000 or waive only that part of your premiums which represent pure insurance risk.

From J. J. S. Jr., Dayton, O.: "Recently you said former AUS officers build up longevity while on inactive status since World War II. Is such inactive AUS service also counted as satisfactory Federal service for the purposes of reserve retirement?"

Yes, down to July 1, 1949. After that date all reservists, National Guardsmen and others working towards reserve retirement must earn their twenty years of "satisfactory Federal service" by getting 50 retirement points a year.

From W. N. D. of Grand Island Nebr., "Will vets who dropped their NSLI after the war get another dividend this year?"

No. Their NSLI policies must have been in effect for at least three months between 1948 and 1951 to get a dividend this year

From M.T.S. of Miami, Fla.: "Where can I get an application for the West Virginia bonus?"

They will be available about July 1. Write the West Virginia Dept. of Veterans Affairs, Box 5127, Capitol Station, Charleston W. Va. All claims must be filed by Dec. 31, 1951.

From E. D. S. of Owenton, Ky.: "I'm drawing subsistence while in training under P. L. 16. I'm also in an organized reserve unit. Must I waive my subsistence for the two nights a month I draw drill pay?"

No. But if you go on active training duty for 14 days you must notify the VA to have your subsistence docked during that period.

Choose Deodorant With Care

Everybody—that is every normal person—perspires. Some may perspire less than others, but there is no such thing as a sweat-free human being. For this reason, virtually all of us require anti-perspirants or deodorants at least from time to time, and many should use them every day.

As it comes from the body, sweat has no offensive odor. This fine states of affairs is soon changed, however, by the bacteria which are always present on the skin. They act on the perspiration to produce the so-called perspiration odors

It is true that regular bathing gets rid of many of the germs on the skin for the time being and also washes away the perspiration, but the excretion of perspiration is a continuous process, and germs soon collect on the skin again.

The unpleasant odors of perspiration cannot be disguised very well, at least for very long, with colognes, toilet water, or powders, as they only temporarily mask the odors.

Most of the deodorants available for use on the skin are safe However, it must be borne in mind that there are some persons who are allergic or oversensitive to chemicals of one type or another and, should they use a deodorant which contains such a chemical, irritation of the skin may occur. Deodorants in the form of liquids, powders, or creams all seem to be equally effective. Deodorants should not be confused with substances which are utilized to cut down the amount of perspiration. It is not advisable to apply a deodorant under the arms immediately after the hair has been shaved, since this may lead to irritation of the skin.

Most of the anti-perspirants which are available seem to have been sufficiently tested to prove that they are safe for most of us. It is always a good plan to discuss with your physician the matter of which deodorant or anti-perspirant to use, if the least irritation results because of their use.

Gambler Gets Five Years

NEW YORK, May 18—(AP)—Numbers racketeer Louis Weber today was given the maximum sentence of five years in prison and $2,000 fine for lying to the Senate crime investigating committee.

Federal Judge Charles A. Dewey in imposing sentence said he could not see any difference between the perjury case of Weber and that of James J. Moran, political appointee and close friends of former Mayor William O'Dwyer.

Moran last week got the same sentence as Weber for the same offense.

Weber, 51, was convicted Wednesday night by a jury of 10 men and two women for lying under oath when he told the Senate committee he did not know Moran.

Government witnesses testified that Weber visited Moran, then first deputy fire commissioner, more than 100 times between 1946 and 1950. Moran told the committee it was not more than six times.

NUMBERS RACKETEER, Louis Weber, (above), seemed to view the whole thing as a joke in federal courthouse in New York Wednesday, following his conviction on charges of lying in testimony before the Kefauver Senate Crime Committee. Today he may not be in quite as good humor after getting a 5-year sentence and $2,000 fine.

Seek To Break Deadlock On U.M.T. Action

WASHINGTON, May 18—(AP)—Senators and representatives tackle again today the problem of ending a stalemate over Universal Military Training (UMT) legislation.

In the background as they arranged to meet this afternoon were appeals by President Truman and Secretary of Defense Marshall for prompt action.

The month-long conference deadlocked over UMT and draft legislation was cited yesterday by Senator Russell (D-Ga) as the cause of a recess until Monday in Senate hearings on dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The President said yesterday a universal service law "is essential to the safety of the world—to our own safety."

One of the reasons the country faces a defense crisis today, Mr. Truman told the National Conference on Citizenship, is because Congress turned down the universal military service law he proposed in 1945.

He added that "the people who prevented" enactment of the law then "are trying by every means at their command to prevent it now."

Russell, who is chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said the pending legislation "is so vital that I think everybody agrees the bill should be enacted if it is possible at all to get an agreement."

Former Marion Man Awarded Bronze Star

A former Marion man, Sgt. 1/c Robert Dee Schultz, now serving with the Army in Korea, recently was awarded the Bronze Star Citation for "his work in getting supplies to front lines through enemy ambush and sniper fire during the Pusan Perimeter battle last fall."

Sgt. Schultz, a veteran of World War II, served one year, around 1945, in Okinawa, at which time he received a commisison as a first lieutenant. He was discharged in 1947 and re-enlisted in September, 1949, being sent to Japan then. In July, last year, Sgt. Schultz was asisgned to Korea with General Walker's Eighth Army, in charge of supplies.

A native of Marion, Sgt. Schultz attended the Marion schools for 10 years. He then moved from the city. He is a grandson of the late Lincoln Heineman, who was associated with the Erie Railroad for 47 years prior to his death in 1937.

Sheriff, Police Chief, 2 Others Slain in Fight

BOAZ, Ala., May 18—(AP)—Three officers and a man they sought to arrest died in a midnight gun battle at a farm home three miles east of here.

A fourth officer, seriously wounded, is in a Gadsdan, Ala., hospital.

Five persons are being held without charge in jail at Gadsden pending further investigation.

Those killed were Sheriff E. M. Boyles of Marshall County; Chief of Police Leonard J. Floyd of Boaz; Aubrey Kilpatrick, a farmer; and Chief Deputy Sheriff W. M. Bennett, who died in a Gadsden hospital at 3 a.m. today.

The officers had gone to the Kilpatrick home to arrest him and another man on charges of assault with intent to murder.

Quiz Friend of Family In Columbus Slaying

COLUMBUS, May 18—(AP)—Police today resumed questioning of a 23-year-old insurance salesman in the slaying of Mrs. Ruth Alter, a Columbus housewife.

Police described the man as a "close friend" of the Alters and said his automobile matches the description of one seen in the neighborhood when Mrs. Alter was slain. She was beaten to death April 25.

No charges have been filed.

Kenyon Prof., Native Of Cardington, Dies

Dr. Orville Ernest Watson, 93, for many years a professor of New Testament study at Kenyon College, Gambier, died in that city yesterday afternoon. He was a native of Cardington, O.

Known for many years by both laymen and students as "Canon," he had made his home in the professors' quarters at Kenyon since he retired from active faculty in 1934.

From 1893 to 1903 he was canon of Trinity Cathedral in Cleveland. He joined the staff at Kenyon in 1903. His honorary degrees included doctor of divinity from Ohio Wesleyan in 1906 and doctor of human letters from Kenyon College in 1938. He was never married and has no surviving relatives.

Red Losses Set at 904,788

WASHINGTON, May 18—(AP)—The Army today estimated Communist losses in Korea at 904,788 through May 7.

This is 11,126 more than was reported through April 30.

Chinese and North Korean battle casualties were placed at 631,607. Non-combat casualties were estimated at 125,880. In addition, 147,301 Red prisoners of war have been captured by actual count.

North Korean casualties made up 539,702 of the total. Since the beginning of hostilities last June, Korean Red battle casualties are estimated at 319,818, non-battle losses at 76,066, and 143,818 have been taken prisoner.

Total Chinese Red casualties are estimated at 365,086.

Of this total, 311,789 are listed as battle casualties, 49,814 as non-battle losses and 3,483 as prisoners.

Clubwomen Debate U.M.T.

HOUSTON, Tex., May 18—(UP)—A heated fight over the controversial universal military training issue shaped up today at the annual convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

A vote on a resolution endorsing the program was expected during the day.

That issue has provoked the most heated discussion in the six-day convention.

The main sessions will end tonight with addresses by Mrs. Perle Mesta, American minister to Luxembourg, and Erwin D. Canham, editor of the Christian Science Monitor.

Some Telegraphers Still Holding Out

A union order sending some 5,000 Western Union employes back to work last night met with mixed results

In Philadelphia, Detroit, and the San Francisco-Oakland, Calif., area workers refused to return to their jobs in a dispute involving a week-old management program of training "excluded" supervisory employes

Normal working conditions were restored in Cincinnati, Boston and Buffalo, N. Y., following back-to-work orders issued by Adolph Brungs, national president of the A.F.L. Commercial Telegraphers Union.

TOWNSEND CLUB TO MEET

Townsend Club No. 3 will meet tonight at Central Labor Union Hall on East Center street.

Allies

they had lost 9,000 men there, correspondent William C. Barnard reported.

"They hurled an amazing storm of men against a heavily defended position southeast of Chunchon. They ran into Allied minefields and kept coming over the bodies of their own dead. Allied artillery rained death in their midst.

"Then they hit the barbed wire entanglements and fixed American machineguns opened up with deadly fire. It cut them down by the hundreds, stopping the attack cold at the very mouth of the Allied guns."

Flares Spot Targets

Through the night Allied bombers and fighters bombed and strafed by the light of flares. Massed artillery fired steadily into swarming Reds.

In one spot east of Chunchon shells burst in a mass of 8,000 Chinese.

This was on the edge of the big Red breakthrough.

An estimated two Chinese divisions poured through the gap in South Korean lines and fanned out south, southwest and southeast of Inje.

They were reported applying heavy pressure on American flanks.

Communists streamed down the road toward Hongchon, highway hub and American base on the central front.

Americans were engaged in heavy fighting around Hangye. The town is 13 miles south of the 38th Parallel, 20 air miles south of Inje and 10 miles northeast of Hongchon.

This appeared to be the greatest depth of Red penetration.

While Americans fought to stem the Red tide, South Koreans were reported reaching their new defense lines.

The Communists were coming through on the heels of the South Koreans.

Situation Confused

"The situation was hazy," Polowetzky reported from Eighth Army headquarters.

Battles flared westward across the central front. South of Chunchon American lines held.

But the Reds drove two holes in U. N. lines in hand to hand fighting Thursday morning on the west central front. This action was roughly 25 miles northeast of Seoul.

All field dispatches were heavily censored. The exact location of any fight was deleted.

Censorship particularly obscured what was happening in the big Red breakthrough and its potential significance.

Only one thing was completely clear. Communist troops were suffering terrific losses.

Barnard's report on central front action was so heavily censored it was impossible to tell precisely where the "human sea" tactics overran the American unit.

The waves of Reds, said Lt. Gen James A. Van Fleet of the overall offensive, are making "another futile attempt to destroy the United Nations forces in Korea."

Planes Take Toll

U. N. warplanes, credited with killing 5,570 Reds Thursday, were out in force again Friday, raking Red waves with rockets, machineguns, fragmentation and fire bombs.

But the toll scarcely made a dent in the 1,141,000 troops the U. N. command said were available to the Reds. An army release said the Reds' overwhelming numbers were "a critically dangerous threat" to most of them on or immediately back of the front, and 373,000 more available in Manchuria.

The Reds smashed through South Korean troops or pushed them back.

Other Allied units held their lines. Communist smashes north of Seoul were crushed.

Twenty-five miles northeast of the old South Korean capital, the Reds chased South Korean troops across the Pukhan river. U. N. artillery took a heavy toll of the pursuing Communists.

In the eastern sector, heavy Communist waves rolled back the South Korean lines from the Inje area to the sea of Japan. This 25 mile line through the eastern mountains was the last U. N. hold in Red Korea.

Raging Fire Sweeps Pier

PHILADELPHIA, May 18—(AP)—A raging waterfront fire swept through a pier and a cargo ship on the Delaware River today.

Police said they believed one crewman was trapped aboard the burning cargo ship, the Pineland Leith, from Scotland, about 4,000 gross tons. At least a dozen other crewmen jumped into the water as the burning vessel parted its mooring lines and drifted toward an adjoining pier. Some were taken to nearby hospitals.

A general alarm summoned all downtown firefighting equipment and three fireboats to the scene as the smouldering Pineland Leith drifted from the pier operated by the Pennsylvania Railroad, and used by Southern Steamship Company and the Puerto Rico Lines.

Minimum Pay For Teachers Up For Vote

Ohio House To Act On Stripped-down O.E.A. Proposal

COLUMBUS, May 18—(AP)—A stripped-down version of the Ohio Education Association's bill to guarantee minimum salaries for school teachers comes to a vote today in the Ohio House.

Originally presented to the legislature by petitions bearing 189,000 signatures, the bill in its first form would have increased the state's school subsidy by $37,500,000. The House education committee shaved this figure down to about $19,000,000. Most of the higher ranges in the minimum salary schedule set up in the O.E.A. bill have been scrapped.

But even if the House version of the school bill goes sailing through the House, the fight over the subsidy is far from over.

A large group of senators, led by Sen. Albert Daniels (R-Highland), is in the mood to give the schools about $34,000,000 in additional subsidies in the next two years—about $3,500,000 short of the requested figure. The Senate has its own, slightly modified version of the O.E.A. bill ready for a vote.

On the eve of the House vote, the O.E.A. announced it is preparing to exercise its right under the law to carry the subsidy question to the state's voters in next November's election.

The House received from the Senate today a bill to split the State Welfare Department and create a new department of public assistance.

The Senate also approved and sent to Gov. Frank J. Lausche's desk a bill to strengthen anti-sabotage laws. It provides a fine of up to $10,000 or a prison sentence of one to 20 years or both for sabotage against public utilities facilities. If a death results from the sabotage, a five to 99 year prison term is provided.

Wreck

of way the ground slopes sharply and is overgrown with underbrush.

Too, there was some discomfort because of chilly weather, following a several days heat wave.

For a time fire threatened. Eye witnesses saw an electric flash, then flames rising from the telescoped coach. The P.R.R. uses electric engines, powered from overhead wires, in this area. The fire was quenched soon after the current was turned off.

Today's wreck was the second in the history of the New York-Detroit flyer. On Feb. 16, 1947, the express went off the tracks on a lonely mountain curve near Altoona, Pa., and plunged into a gully, killing 24 and injuring 150. A coroner's jury found the railroad blameless.

Progressive Grange Hears German Girl

Guest speaker for a meeting of Progressive Grange Wednesday night in the Grange hall was Miss Anna Marie Keil, a German girl who has been studying for the past year at Ohio Wesleyan University in Delaware. She is to return to her native country in the near future where she will take up a position of a teacher of special classes. Miss Keil discussed her life in Germany before and during the war.

The program, which was in charge of the home economics committee, also included a reading, "Mother's Doughnuts" by Miss Betty Fogle.

The Grange voted a contribution of $5 to the cancer fund drive. The obligation was given one member by Oscar Kaelber, a past master. It was voted to send Rev. Wilbur Burke, the speaker for the Grange Rural Life Sunday observance on April 29, a gift of money. The offering taken at this service, amounting to $5.45, will be sent to the Ohio Council of Churches.

Mrs. Robert Howald, home economics chairman, announced plans for another bake sale June 9 in Frank Bros. store basement. An announcement was made that Children's Day will be observed June 6, and that the Grange attendance contest is set to close May 23. The losers in this contest are to present a program on June 20.

a truce, in advance of a proposed presidential peace proposal.

MacArthur replied to this, too, in the statement issued by his chief aide, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney.

The deposed general said he had twice previously tried to obtain a cease-fire agreement, both times "without conferring with higher authority and without the slightest exception being taken thereto."

As for the March 24 offer to the Chinese Red Commander, MacArthur said:

"Such action on my part could only be regarded as supplementary to and in full support of any political move toward peace unless an agreement was in contemplation on the enemy's own terms."

Expansive Mood

In an expansive mood at his news conference, the President also said that:

1. Secretary of State Acheson cautioned at an April 6 White House conference against MacArthur's removal on grounds it would stir up a political fuss. And it did, he was right, The President added with a grin.

2. He is happy the Senate armed forces and foreign relations committees upheld yesterday a ruling that Gen. Omar Bradley did not have to divulge what was said by whom at the April 6 White House meeting.

Boy Comes To Police To Claim Bike, Is Held For Pilfering

A 17-year-old Marion boy went to the police station yesterday to claim his bicycle and walked into a trap.

The bicycle had been left at 379 East Mark street after the rider of the bike had attempted to pilfer an auto, police reported.

It happened like this, police said.

Robert Rowland of 379 East Mark street was looking out his front window early Thursday morning when he saw a boy on a bicycle looking his car over in a suspicious manner.

While Rowland watched, the boy got off the bike and began ransacking the glove compartment of the parked auto. Rowland ran out and tried to grab the boy, but he ran down the street leaving the bike behind.

Police were called then and the bike was taken to police headquarters.

The youth telephoned the station yesterday to ask if his bike had been found. Police said it had and would he come to the station to pick it up?

Under questioning the boy admitted he had been the one who had tried to ransack the auto.

A hearing was held in Juvenile Court this morning before Juvenile Judge Edward J. Ruzzo, but the disposition of the case was not immediately made known.

SURRENDER AT SEA. The crew of a fishing boat found off the North Korean shore presented this conciliatory attitude when challenged by an investigation party off the USS Manchester. The U. N. patrol boat is part of the blocking and escort force that has laid siege to the strategic port of Wonsan, on Korea's northest coast, since February.

Wage Action Expected

WASHINGTON, May 18—(AP)—The government today may start punching holes in its temporary inflationary dike on wages.

The wage stabilization board (WSB) was reported ready to approve most, or all, of an 11-cent average hourly wage increase for 220,000 meat packing house workers.

This would break the existing ten percent limit on pay increases over the January, 1950 levels. Packing house workers got almost a full ten percent increase last August.

It was indicated, too, the board may act soon to approve a four-cent hourly "productivity" pay boost for more than 500,000 C.I.O. Auto Workers Union members. This also would be an exception to the ten percent limit.

These and other cases may lead the wage board to retreat to a new and more generous overall wage ceiling. In many of the hundreds of ceiling-piercing cases awaiting board approval, employers have joined the unions in asking an OK for higher than ten percent increases.

It was always contemplated, anyway, that the ten percent limit would be only temporary. That was the leeway originally fixed when wages were frozen. Along with prices, in January.

N.Y.C. Asks Permission To Drop Two Trains

The New York Central Railroad today applied to the Public Utilities Commission for permission to discontinue Trains No. 1 and No. 4 which run between Columbus and Toledo and serve Marysville, Kenton and Findlay, The Associated Press reported.

The railroad said its reason for the discontinuance request was the volume of passengers, mail and express carried by the trains was so low the railroad had lost money on the two runs for more than two years.

RIVERS ON RAMPAGE

By The Associated Press

Flood waters, fed by rampaging rivers and creeks, threatened a 30-block section of Kansas' largest city and harassed new areas in Oklahoma and Texas today. The hight waters have caused at least four deaths, isolated many rural homes, and cut transportation and communications.

Minor damage was reported when cars driven by Joseph H. Temple, 29, of near Richwood and Herschell G. Davis, 39, of near New Bloomington collided on West Columbia street at Park boulevard at 8:40 a.m. today.

They pleaded guilty to the charge in Municipal Court today and both were fined $25 and costs by Judge W. Dexter Hazen.

Y Men's Club Holds Auction

Final plans for the second annual "white elephant" auction scheduled this afternoon and evening in the poultry building at the Marion County Fairgrounds were made last night at a meeting of the Y Men's Club.

Carl Matson and Clyde Wilson, local auctioneers, will call the sale which opens at 3 this afternoon and will run until all articles are sold. Pickups for the sale were made before and during last night's meeting. Mr. Matson gave a brief talk on auctioneering and explained the procedure to be used.

Last night's program included two films, "Hunting in Alaska" and "Fishing in Alaska." John Holliday presided in the absence of Jack Boyd, club president, who is recovering from a recent operation, returned to the meetings last night.

A discussion on the annual Ladies' Night party was held. The affair will be held Thursday, May 31 at the Marion Country Club.

Dr. John Furbay, Trans World air aide education administrator, will be speaker at next week's meeting. He will address the club on "World Travel."

Rumley Fined $1,000 For Contempt

WASHINGTON, May 18—(AP)—Dr. Edward A. Rumely today was fined $1,000 and given a six-month suspended sentence for contempt of Congress.

The sentence was imposed on the 69-year-old executive secretary of the Committee for Constitutional Government by Federal District Judge Richmond B. Keech. Rumely was convicted by a jury April 18.

Judge Keech said he had given the case "extraordinary consideration" and "save for this man's age I would commit him" to jail.

Rumely's attorney, Neil Burkinshaw, immediately served notice that the case will be appealed to higher courts.

HE GOT RESULTS

COLUMBUS, May 18—(AP)—Edward Werner, a West Side business man, complained to police last weekend that motorists were using one street in the area for a "race track." Monday, they arrested a motorist for speeding 43 miles an hour in a 25 MPH zone in the area. Today he paid $5 in traffic court. The motorist was Werner, himself.

Court Hangs Jail Threat Over Sawyer

Contempt Charge Facing Commerce Secretary, 9 Others

WASHINGTON, May 18—(AP)—The U. S. Court of Appeals today served notice on Secretary of Commerce Sawyer and nine others that they will be sent to jail for contempt unless they comply with its orders in litigation over control of American President Lines, Ltd.

The court said it would enter an order giving Sawyer and the others five days in which to comply with its decree.

The court said:

"If they have not complied as directed in the order (they) must submit themselves x x x for commitment as in civil contempt until they do comply."

Failed to Comply

Sawyer and eight other government officials and attorneys earlier had been cited by the court on contempt charges for failure to deliver "effective possession" of 92 percent of the voting stock of American President Lines to R. Stanley Dollar and his associates.

The tenth person involved in the proceedings is George L. Killion, president of the big steamship company. Killion is former treasurer of the Democratic national committee.

In addition to Sawyer, top-ranking government officials involved include Solicitor General Philip B. Perlman, deputy Attorney General Peyton Ford and Maj. Gen. Philip Fleming, formerly Undersecretary of Commerce for transportation.

In its decision today, the Court of Appeals said the Dollar interests "have a valid and complete judgment" against those persons who were in possession of the disputed shares.

Financial Deal

The long legal battle grew out of financial troubles of the Dollar Steamship interests in 1938. The Dollar interests put up the stock with the old Maritime Commission in return for loans.

In 1945 the Dollar's sued to get the stock back. They claimed they merely pledged the stock for loans, which had been repaid out of earnings from the American President lines.

The government contended, however, that the stock had been surrendered outright to the government.

on West Center street, but is now with the 963rd Field Artillery Battalion, attached to Battery H, a phantom battery which exists only to train new men. After eight weeks of training, he will remain with his own unit to learn a specific job. But right now, he is going through basic training.'"

A typical day in the life of Pvt. Castanien, was illustrated by the speaker. The soldier arises at 5:30 a.m., eats breakfast, cleans up the battery area, hikes to a training area, and after physical training, starts classes, which last the rest of the day with time out for lunch.

He said other Marion men stationed at Camp Pickett include Pvt. George Miller of 708 Indiana avenue, Pvt. Richard Stanley of 714 Davids street, both members of Battery C of the 192nd Field Artillery Battalion. Pvt. Donald Johnson of 752 Oak Grove avenue and Pvt. Richard E. Beattie of 622 East George street, who are with the Headquarters Battery of the 963rd Field Artillery Battalion.

Morale High

"The morale of these boys is usually high," stated Gen. Naylor. "This may be plainly seen in the fact that last week we had the lowest absent without leave record ever attained at the camp."

In answer to questions and assumptions which the American people are asking and making, Gen. Naylor spoke on the inconveniences which are in store for the soldier as he enters camp for training. "Although the medical facilities, clothing, and general atmosphere is not at its best," the general pointed out, "it must be remembered that this is fast mobilization, not a premeditated one, and that many shortages do exist, and will exist for a while longer."

Gen. Naylor spoke of the Communist aggression and said, "A time of challenge is at hand. How we meet it, and how we behave in the presence of danger, is a measure of our manhood as a nation. We have never faltered before. We bear the mantle of world leadership upon our shoulders and we bear it proudly."

Flown To Marion

Brig. Gen. Naylor is assistant commanding officer of the 43rd Infantry Division at Camp Pickett, Va., and was flown to Marion on Wednesday. He spent the day today visiting the city, seeing the National Guard Armory, Harding Memorial, the Engineer Depot and the Harding Home.

He urged the people of Marion to become more interested in their National Guard Unit, and to endorse membership in it.

Armed Forces Day will officially be celebrated Saturday with open house to be held at the Engineer Depot. A public invitation to attend this open house was extended at the dinner by Major John Bagley, who is stationed at the Depot.

Invocation was given by Rev. Frederick Leech. Col. R. E. Copeland was in charge of the meeting.

Honored guests at the dinner included representatives from the veterans organizations and service clubs of the city.

Displays Set Up

Lt. Melvin Weston and Lt. Millard K. Morelanc today announced completion of displays set up in downtown Marion in observance of Armed Forces week.

Pictures also have been placed in the Fahey Bank.

The howitzer was placed on display by Battery C, 324th Field Artillery Battalion, a Marion unit of the Organized Reserve Corps.

Radio and Television

These Are His Friends?

By CASWELL ADAMS

It has just occurred to me that John Crosby, currently skulking through the sewers of Paris in search of European television news and anecdotes, did you all a mammoth injustice by merely referring to these temporary occupants of his prose bower as "friends." First of all, he went too far with that word, and then, se ond of all he d dn't go far enough.

I must tell you about my fellow roommates in this column.

Take Fred Allen. Naturally, anyone knows that Fred was born May 31, 1894 n Cambridge, Massachusetts, and that his right name is John F. Sullivan; that he has starred in vaudeville, the theater and, perhaps, in the movies. That his radio show on Sunday nights was almost the death knell of Eastern delicatessens, coming as it did, just as the master of the house was about to go shopping for "a hunk of that, please, and about a dime's worth of the potato salad And, got any rolls left?"

But, did you know that Fred Allen has never met a capital letter socially? That his correspondence is all in lower case and looks something like this: "franklin d. roosevelt and harry s. truman were democrats, the yankees, giants and dodgers are ball clubs. i don't like c.b.s. or n.b.c." Or along those lines.

Take Wolcott Gibbs A dour bespectacled fellow, who makes you laugh when he says that his sister is "always surrounded by an aroma of disaster." He writes the theatrical reviews for "The New Yorker" and wields a scary scalpel. Wrote "Season in The Sun," the current Broadway play about the foibles and antics of the merry ferry-ers to Fire Island, which is a rich cousin of Jones Beach and much harder to reach. He hates hurricanes, mainly because no insurance is available on Fire Island, because of the recurrence of hurricanes. He has several favorite water holes, and is a very bad match game player.

Take Tallulah Bankhead Born January 31, 1903, in deep Alabama, of violently Democratic parents and ancestors. The violence remains in everything she says, does or writes. She hates polo. She likes black velvets, which are a lethal combination of champagne and stout. She was violently on the wagon from the day war was declared until V J. day. Legend has it that she violently dotes on the New York Giants This is fiction carefully concocted and nurtured by her press agent, Dick Maney, who likes to see his client's name on the sports pages, where they don t belong. She can stand on her head violently.

Once, when "The Little Foxes" was a tremendous success in New York, she wheedled me into a chair slightly off stage in the breakfast (maybe it was dinner) scene. Unfed at the moment, I ate seven water biscuits during the scene. No water.

Take P. G. Wodehouse Pelham Granville Wodehouse, pronounced Woodhouse, that is. Here is a gifted, sixty-ish man, who likes Martinis and who is famed for his marvellous tales of Jeeves. But who knows that he wrote the lyrics for "Bill," that great hit from "Show Boat," sung by Helen Morgan perched on a piano—"He's just my Bill—an an ordinary man—He can't play golf or tennis or polo. Or sing a solo."

Take John Lardner. Now, here's a fellow whom you people know merely as a writer of sports and theater. A war correspondent who, naturally, wrote a book about his Pacific experiences. But, did you know that he has a superstitious wife who stands with her left foot on a special crack in the Saratoga race track clubhouse flooring during the running of each race to insure winning a wager? And did you know that Mr. Lardner once rifled my pockets in Boston after the Joe Louis-McCoy fight after a rather disastrous night with dice, and removed sixty-seven cents and left a snide note concerning the inadequacy of my exchequer?

The dope! He should have known by then that I always scotchtape any remaining money to the top of the closet—nearest left hand corner—whenever I'm on the seventeenth floor of the Statler in Boston in December in odd years.

Lausche Letter Draws Fire From Senator

Legislature Chided On Spending Policy; Sen. Walcutt Irked

COLUMBUS, May 18—(AP)—Senate majority leader Roscoe R. Walcutt (R-Columbus) today accused Gov. Frank J. Lausche of a "deliberate attempt to bring about confusion" in the final days of the Ohio legislature's session.

The charge was the result of a letter which Lausche wrote last night to House minority leader James M. Carney (D-Cleveland), criticizing the spending policies of the Republican-dominated General Assembly. The letter also was released to the press.

The Lausche letter and Walcutt's sharp retort apparently signalled the end of a relative outward truce between the Republican legislator and the Democratic governor.

With the informally scheduled adjournment of the legislature only a week away, Lausche wrote Carney:

"In the desire to get through with the legislative session next week there is grave danger that action will be taken upon bills without adequate study and consideration. . . . I ask you to hold the line and prevent a financial debacle from developing through the hasty enactment of legislation."

Unbalanced Budget

The budget, including appropriations the governor said he feared the assembly will approve, would be some $17,797,000 out of balance, Lausche estimated.

The letter apparently was timed to reach the House before the scheduled vote today in the House on a bill to increase the state's school subsidy by $19,000,000 in the next two years. This is about half the amount the Ohio Education Association had asked and more than three times the amount Lausche had recommended.

When he was shown a copy of the letter, Walcutt told a newsman:

"The governor's statement is a deliberate attempt to influence legislation by publicity and made at a time when he assumes the legislature cannot answer.

"It is apparently directed at the Senate with the motive of influencing Senate deliberations. It refers to a dozen matters which are the subject of legislative consideration and on which no final conclusions have been reached.

"The General Assembly is made up of 134 representatives and 33 senators who have been elected by the people of their counties and districts. They are sensitive to the welfare of the state and the proper discharge of their duty as the governor.

Walcutt Incensed

"It is a deliberate attempt to bring about confusion."

Walcutt indicated he had no intention of letting the matter rest. He obviously was incensed over what he considered an executive invasion of the legislative bailiwick.

The Lausche letter is the most recent in a series of about six the governor has written to minority leaders in the last 10 days on pending legislation. Earlier ones, however, dealt with specific bills and made no attempt to comment on general policy.

Complaints Of McKinley Lake Algae Begin

The annual furore about the green scum of algae which forms each spring on McKinley Park lake has begun again, Park Board Secretary Walter E. Mathiot reported today.

The park board has received numerous complaints about the algea formation asking its removal because many people believe that it is a sign of stagnation and contamination of the lake, Mr. Mathiot said.

The algae is harmless, he said, and is a natural water plant formation called Chloroplycene.

Two years ago the park board took action to kill the algae and remove the green scum of plant life from the lake by putting copper sulphate in it. An overdose of this chemical killed the algae but it also killed some of the fish in the lake and residents of the area found the few dead fish more objectionable than the algae, Mr. Mathiot said.

While a light application of copper sulphate would eliminate the algae without killing the fish, no decision has been reached by the park board on whether or not to proceed with this action.

Air Force General Is Relieved of Command

TOKYO, May 18—(AP)—The U. S. Far East Air Forces announced today that Brig. Gen. Luther W. Sweetser Jr., has been relieved of command of the 452nd Bomb Wing.

The FEAF gave no reason for the change.

There have been reports in the United States that Sweetser was relieved for urging crew replacements and better logistic support.

Never Mind Neighbor, Love Self, Says Bertrand Russell, 79

LONDON, May 18—(AP)—Never mind thy neighbor! Love thyself!

So says Nobel-prize-winning philosopher Bertrand Russell—turned 79 today.

This rule may not exemplify good will toward men, but—says Russell—one must follow it if there is to be peace on earth.

If man is to resolve the internal conflict that rages within himself, Russell says, he must follow a path of sheer self-interest. His solution:

"Not to love your neighbor like yourself, but to love yourself."

"A man who is not at peace with himself cannot be at peace with his fellows," Russell declared.

Quietly at work in his Victorian home at Richmond near the river Thames, the spritely philosopher leads much the same daily routine as in the days of horse cabs.

"But I don't find it difficult to adjust my mind to the changing world," he said.

In fact, the tall nobleman—he is an English earl as well as a thinker—has just finished writing his advice to the youngsters of 1951 on how to catch up with the times.

That advice is to clear their minds of out-of-date ideas inherited from the Old Testament and the Middle Ages.

It is not the mass destruction devices of the scientists which have made the world a terrible place, he declared in an interview, but the obsolete furniture of man's mind.

"The black death was much worse than the atom bomb," the white-haired old man, still nimble as an elf, declared with a twinkle. All thats needed now is for man to learn the lesson of living in the comfortable, modern world scientists have helped provide.

Russell said mankind has been waging three major conflicts since his first footsteps on earth. He listed them as man's conflict with nature—the battle for food, shelter and protection; man's conflict with other men, and finally man's internal conflict with himself.

Science and politics respectively can look after the first two, Russell maintained, if the third can be resolved. But traditional religion and morality have failed to do this. So, Russell is giving his own answer in a book to be published shortly.

Boy Dies in Own Play Death Trap, Hangman's Noose

NEPTUNE, N. J., May 18—(AP)—An imaginative 14-year-old boy died in his own play death trap—a hangman's noose sprung by a lighted candle.

Neighbors found the body of George Sherman yesterday dangling from a length of clothesline in his cellar. He had been left alone in his Shark River home while his family went visiting.

Still strapped to his wrist was the open knife he apparently meant to use to cut himself down after the trap was sprung.

Police theorized the jerking rope strangled George before he could wrench the knife free. The death was ruled an accident.

Here's the way they said George rigged his death trap:

He fastened a pair of roller skates to a box to make a dolly. Above this, he tied a noose to the cellar ceiling. Then he rigged up a pulley about 10-feet away.

Through it, he ran two ropes attached to a pail of sand. He anchored one line to a beer box weighted down with two tool chests. The other line was attached to the dolly.

He placed a lighted candle under the anchor rope, mounted the dolly and dropped the noose over his head. When the candle burned through the rope, the pail dropped, yanking the dolly out from under him.

Cleared Of Connection In Murder

Fred Clark Brown, 24, of Cleveland who was being held in Morrow County jail as a possible suspect in a 1947 Detroit murder has been cleared of any suspicion in conection with it, the state patrol announced today.

He is still being held in jail, though, because of his failure to pay a $50 fine assessed against him Tuesday by Mayor R. R. Bennington of Mt. Gilead after he pleaded guilty to driving a car with fictitious license plates.

Brown was cleared of suspicion in the murder when a check by the state patrol with Detroit authorities disclosed that although his name and general description were the same as the wanted man, other details of his description and a check of his activities at the time of the murder, Jan. 19, 1947, revealed he could have no connection with it.

More Practical To Be Tycoon Than President

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

SOME PEOPLE want their their little boys to grow up to be president, but Mrs. Brady Denton, a level-headed young mother from Saginaw, Mich., wants her three small sons to be tycoons when they grow up.

A tycoon is strictly an American phenomenon—usually a man who has worked his way up from office boy to president of a corporation, who exerts a wide influence on the U. S. business world. The dictionary definition is "an industrial magnate," with the footnote "U. S. colloquialism."

Pretty young Mrs. Denton has decided that the realms of high finance are just her dish, since her husband's first stock purchase two weeks ago resulted in a trip to New York for the whole family, except the baby, as guests of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

IT TURNED OUT that Brady Denton's purchase of seven shares of A. T. & T. stock made him the millionth stockholder in the company, and as such worthy of the best the big town has to offer. So the Dentons have had a hectic week of theaters, night clubs, ceremonies, formal dinners and the works, with a sitter for the two little boys thrown in.

The program even included a visit to the Stock Exchange, where the young couple was shown the post on the floor where A. T. & T. stock is traded, and where Brady Jr., aged 6, and Johnny, aged 3, were presented with cowboy suits.

I spent a few minutes with this up-and-coming American family, and came away convinced that as long as the country is producing people like the Dentons, the menace of a communistic state is a long way off. Their story is like that of millions of young people all over the country, I believe. But sometimes you forget that the bulk of the population is made up of such reassuring characters when you get in the middle of the pressure groups and ideologies of the eastern seaboard.

DOROTHY AND Brady Denton both were born and raised in Saginaw, fell in love during high school and were married at the beginning of World War II. Brady worked after school and Saturdays, got a full-time job after high school and was an insurance salesman at the time of his marriage.

After her husband went into the Army in 1942, Dorothy stayed with him in camps all over the country until he was sent to the South Pacific with the Corps of Engineers. Little Brady then was just four weeks old. Brady Sr., was stationed at Iwo Jima and Okinawa, came home in 1946 a first lieutenant. Let him tell it now:

"When I got out of the Army, I had no job, no house, no furniture, no car and one son. It's taken five years, but now I have a job, a house, furniture, a car and three sons. It's kept me pretty busy."

YOUNG DENTON is an automobile salesman, makes a good income, even by today's standards. But this is no scrimping-and-scrounging story. Says Mrs. Denton:

"We've never tried to keep a budget. I don't think they ever work, anyway. We just try to live on a certain amount each week and put the rest in the savings bank. Lately it's taken more to live, and there's been less to save, but we don't worry. After all, we have all we want to eat, we own our own home, we have three healthy boys, we do what we like to do, and we enjoy life. Why should we complain?"

The young Dentons brought a breath of youth and confidence with them on their visit to New York's citadels of finance. They were not over-awed by the attentions paid them, but enjoyed it all with youthful zest, took part in the scheduled ceremonies with easy poise and left corporation presidents and Wall Street financiers muttering to themselves:

"The country must be okay after all, when we've got young folks like that"

Claridon-Alumni Banquet Set For Saturday Night

Annual banquet and meeting of the Claridon Alumni Association will be held Saturday night in the Claridon School auditorium.

A potluck supper at 7 p.m. will be followed by a program and an evening of square dancing.

They were in Rumania, then in Berlin, where Col. Seitz was in charge of the civilian censorship division, after which they were in Greece where he was attached to a military office at Salonirka, Greece. Mrs. Seitz will tell of life in Europe and her experiences.

The square dancing will be in charge of Darwin Bryan of Columbus, youth director of the Ohio Farm Bureau. Also during the evening, prizes will be awarded to the class with the largest attendance.

Officers are Miss Alice Price, president, Mrs. Don Cook, vice president, Miss Martha Loyer, secretary, and Wilbur Ault, treasurer. On the program committee are Mrs. James Ruth, Mrs. William Veness and Mrs. Robert Brown.

The nickname of Arkansas is "the Wonder State."

UP TO HIS NECK IN TROUBLE. Horse named "Darling" is stuck fast in a hole in an alley in Gary, Ind. He was pulling the wagon in the background when the ground caved in under his weight. It took ninety minutes work by police, firemen an auto wrecker and street employes to free the animal, who appeared none the worse for his experience.

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

At Dicky's words, quick contrition seized me for my petulance. I knew, better than anyone else that when my father ceased to have anything to say about the formal courtesy with which he invests every movement of mine, something very precious would have gone out of my life, even though I sometimes rebel at his fussiness.

"I only hope," I whispered again, "that he'll have a good deal to say about it, for a long time to come."

He pressed my arm tenderly, but he did not answer me, and I knew that my father's and Mr. Olsen, the Lansfield's manager, must be close behind us.

But I found time for one more sentence, prison-fashion, as we came into the living room, and the four boys sprang to their feet to receive us.

"The boys!" I murmured. "They'd give their left ears to join that inspection party, and know why."

"I'll do what I can," he murmured back in the same fashion, and I rested easily in the assurance that he would accomplish his object.

He walked with me to a chair, put me into it, then went up to my father, drew him aside, and whispered something to him, after apologizing to Mr. Olsen.

"Bless my soul!" I heard my father say. "Of course. Tell them at once."

Dicky went over to where the boys were standing, and although he spoke in a low voice, I could hear every word he said.

"There's a 'hush-hush project on hand," he said, "an inspection of the roof garden. We need your sharp eyes. Will you come along?"

The boys did not shout "Will we?" but they looked it as they followed Dicky over to the other three men. And then, they were gone, and I went over to my bedroom door, and knocked.

Faith opened the door, and her eyes were starry.

"Oh, Mummy, we're having such good times planning our housekeeping."

Katharine and her grandmother smiled at me, but I noticed that while Katharine was calm, my mother-in-law's eyes held the same look of bliss which Faith's had, and, I made a mighty resolve that for the rest of her life, I would invent tasks to make her think she was needed.

"You'll have a little more time," I told them. "Luncheon has been postponed for ten more minutes."

"Great projects on hand?" Katharine asked idly.

"Junior would inform you, that he'd 'tell the world there were'," I said. "Now, I wasn't enjoined not to tell, so I'll tell you about it now. But, when my father, or somebody else speaks of it later, don't let on you've heard a word. No, you needn't promise." as Faith showed signs of beginning in her routine again. "I'll take your unspoken word for it. Faith. Now, listen.

I told them quickly about the roof garden, and the prospect of their being permitted to use it all by themselves.

"My word!" Katharine said. "A private roof garden all to ourselves. If that isn't something for the book!"

Tells Kiwanis Of Research Institute

Dr. Frank A. Gilbert Of Battelle Speaker At Weekly Luncheon

A history of the Battelle Memorial Institute in Columbus and how it operates was given by Dr. Frank A. Gilbert, a research botanist on the agricultural science staff of the Institute, when he spoke to the Marion Kiwanis Club in its weekly luncheon meeting Tnursday at Hotel Harding.

Dr. Gilbert, who joined the Battelle staff in 1944, has been closely identified with most of the research at Battelle on the effects of metals and chemicals in agriculture. A graduate of Massachusetts Agricultural College, Dr. Gilbert received his master of arts and doctor of philosophy degrees from Harvard University. He was at one time a plant pathologist with the U S Department of Agriculture, and served as professor of botany at Marshall College in Huntington, W. Va., for 15 years prior to going with Battelle.

Private Institute

The speaker told his audience the Battelle Memorial Institute is the largest institute of its kind and is not controlled by the national government or the state. Gordon Battelle, he said, was the founder, and the Institute was provided for through his will.

Slightly over 20 years old, the Institute has 40 departments, with a staff of over 1,300 persons. Dr. Clyde Williams is the director and he has eight assistants, Dr. Gilbert explained. Policies of the Institute are set up by a board of trustees, members of which are paid no salaries.

Men at the Battelle Institute do research work for small and as well as large industries, which do not have research departments of their own, and also work is done at the Institute for individuals.

"The Institute," Dr. Gilbert said, "has done research for more than 1,000 companies, one of which was the Monsanto Chemical Co."

Obtain Patents

He explained that the Institute obtains patents for sponsoring companies.

Visitors, he said, are welcome at Battelle, explaining that in 1950, about 16,000 persons were shown through the Institute.

Program chairman for the day was Julian H. Walker.

Introduced as new Junior Kiwanians were Sam Nicolosi, son of R. T. Nicolosi of the Barks road, and Dick Riester, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Riester of 436 Ballentine avenue, both from St. Mary Parochial School.

Guests of the club were John OConnell of San Francisco, Calif., and W. P. Walker of Toledo.

"No Man Can Serve Two Masters"
PREACHING to His disciples, Jesus said:
"No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon.
"Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?
"Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they? . . .
"Seek first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you. Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof."

Lowly Phils Hand Marsox Double Setback

TWIG GOES OVER THE TOP. Wayne "Twig" Terwilliger (21), Chicago Cubs second baseman, rolls over Brooklyn Dodgers Outfielder Tom Brown in futile attempt to whip ball to first for twin killing in first inning at Wrigley Field in Chicago. Brown was forced at second when Cubs Shortstop Jack Cusick gobbled up Peewee Reese's grounder and flipped to Terwilliger. Cubs won 14 to 4.

Clubs Battle In Another Pair Tonight

Lima's lowly Phils rose up to smite the Marion Red Sox in both ends of a doubleheader here last night, 6-2, and 7-5. The two clubs meet again tonight in two games.

In the first contest, hurlers Bob Marciniec of Marion and Erickson of Lima hooked up in a duel until the Phils shoved across four big runs in their top of the ninth. Tom Tate's triple with the bases loaded was the big blow. Walks to Barney Lutz, Leon and hits by Hammett and Covaleski featured the rally.

Hits Homer

Covaleski also hit a round tripper in the fifth with no one aboard.

Marions two runs came in the third on walks to Jim Evanik, and Marv Stendel and singles by Jack Andrews and Dick Brodowski.

In the second game the Phils scored two runs in the seventh to put the game away. The Phils did it without the benefit of a base hit. Krajwiski and Lutz walked and when Sheehan hit a potential double play ball Evanik, Krajwiski scored and all hands were safe when the Marsox second sacker elected to chase Lutz on the base paths.

Early Lead

Lima had taken a three-run lead off starter Dick Tarys in the opening frame on a base on balls, and hits by Satkowiak, Lutz and Hammett.

Marion went ahead with four in the second, but Philly hurler, Moquin, settled down to turn in a fine hurling job thereafter. Seven errors by his teammates failed to nettle the tall righthander. He walked only two while fanning five.

Bob Penny took over for Tarys in the seventh and stopped the Phils in the next two and two-thirds innings.

A small crowd of only 550 saw the two games.

Early Wynn Wastes Fine Hurling Job

Yanks Continue Winning Ways In Home Park by Edging Indians, 1-0

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Attention radio quiz show fans. Here's the jackpot question. When did the New York Yankees last lose a ball game at Yankee Stadium?

No coaching, please. No peaking in the old sporting news.

The answer is Sept. 26, 1950. A World Series and 10 straight 1951 victories have passed and the end is not in sight. Talk about Boston's friendly Fenway. The Yanks, home in the Bronx has that stopped six ways.

Discouraging

One day the Yanks bomb you to death. Next day they finesse you with skillful pitching and brilliant defense. It must be discouraging for the tourists.

Freshman Manager Paul Richards brings his upstart Chicago White Sox to town today, prepared to feed southpaw pitching to Casey Stengel's children. Maybe that will work. It hasn't so far.

You won't see many better-pitched games than Early Wynn threw the Yanks yesterday. Still he lost 1-0, as his Cleveland Tribe left 13 on the bases.

Joe DiMaggio applied the clincher with an innocent first-inning single scoring Dr. Bobby Brown. Wynn gave up only three hits in his seven-inning stay, one a triple by Gerry Coleman in the eight. Coleman was erased when a squeeze play backfired.

All day the Indians labored, combing Allie Reynolds for nine hits. But it did no good.

They blew their big chance in the eighth when Hank Bauer's slingshot peg from left nipped Sam Chapman, trying to score from third on a fly ball.

Big Gus Zernial continued his home run streak with his seventh in four consecutive games for the Philadelphia A's. Gus tied an American League record, set by Tony Lazzeri in 1936. But he fell one short of Ralph Kiner's major league high, hung up in 1947.

The A's crept out of the cellar on a 7-6 victory over St. Louis. Eddie Joost's ninth-inning single scoring Ray Murray was the clincher for Bobby Shantz, who turned in brilliant three-hit relief pitching after replacing Joe Coleman in the first.

Too Cold

It was too cold for the Red Sox to play the White Sox at Fenway but Boston warmed up with a deal for a catcher. Les Moss of the Browns moved to Boston for Catcher Matt Batts and Pitcher Jim Suchecki.

Connie Marrero shook Washington out of a four-game losing streak by beating Detroit, 11-6, for his fifth straight win. Sam Mele led the attack with two triples and two singles.

It's still only three games from the bottom in the National with Brooklyn, the pre-season favorite, on top, and the 1950 champion Phillies in the cellar.

The vaunted Dodger power was missing at Chicago where Frank Hiller spun a seven-hitter, 7-0, while Ransom Jackson and Hank Sauer ripped into Erv Palica for home runs.

Sauer's four RBI's for the day sent him out front in the league with 29, the same number Mickey Mantle, the Yanks rookie flash, has in the American.

Keep Pace

Keeping pace with the Cubs, the Pittsburgh Pirates moved within one game of first place by knocking off New York, 12-7. Ralph Kiner had a big day with his sixth homer and a double to drive in five runs. The win went to Murry Dickson and the loss to Monte Kennedy.

Cincinnati edged even with the 500 mark on a 6-5 win over Boston's Warren Spahn. Willard Ramsdell weakened in the eighth when the Braves scored four and Harry Perkowski bailed him out. Connie Ryan of the Reds and Sid Gordon of the Braves each hit three-run homers.

Rookie Joe Presko of St Louis pitched his first complete game in the majors to whip the Phillies, 2-1. The Cardinal quickie lost his shutout bid when Andy Seminick homered in the ninth.

Newark Tops Richmond, 4-2

Marion Speedway Offers Big Car Races for 1st Time Sunday

First appearance in history of big cars to the Marion Speedway, five miles north of Marion off Route 23, is scheduled for this Sunday. Thirteen big-car drivers have already promised to try their skill and luck at the track.

Field representative Hoy Stevens of the R.A.C.E., big-car racing association, announced today that he expects at least 18 of the big cars for next Sunday's show. Hoy took his own car, the "Offenlooser," around the track after the opening day's midget racing in 19:60 seconds. Afterwards, he said, "I'm sure our big cars will crack that midget-car track record of 19:40."

The Marion Speedway is one of only two-quarter-mile tracks in the country sanctioned by the R.A.C.E.

"We sanctioned the Marion Speedway," Stevens says, "because of its fine location and wonderful banks, which will easily hold our cars. It's one of the finest quarter-mile tracks I've ever seen."

Entries so far include Stevens' own car, driven by Shorty Fitzgerald of New Lexington. Stevens' "Offenloozer," No. 37, holds track records in Pontiac, Travers City and Grand Rapids, Mich.

Last year's R.A.C.E. champion, Elmer Stevens of Pontiac, Mich., has also promised to race Sunday. Also expected are Ron and Ray Harris, twin drivers, of Lansing, Mich., Leroy Hancock of North Robinson, O., Lyle Wagner of Fredericktown, O., Willie Eiseman of Ann Arbor, Mich., Bill Hagaborn of Pontiac, Mich., Len McAbbe of Ann Arbor, Mich., Joy Doyle of Jackson, Mich., Bill Omans of Lansing, Mich., Ray Dockworth of Anderson, Ind., and Jack Lucas of Indianapolis, Ind.

Races start every Sunday at 2:30. The gates open at 11 and time trials begin at 12.

Clevelander Third In A.B.C. Play

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 18—(AP)—Steve Nagy, one of Cleveland's top bowlers, moved into third place in the all-events division of the American Bowling Congress yesterday.

This was the second change made by Cleveland of the "Nagy grip" in bowling, had eight consecutive games of 200 or better before dropping to a 191 game. He ended his nine games with a total of 1,976. A 6-7-10 spot in the seventh frame of his final singles game, and a 7-pin "tap" in the nine frame robbed him of taking over the lead.

Nagy had a 687 series in the team event, and followed with a 649 in the doubles and 640 in the singles. This was the second time he has bettered 1,800 in 10 A.B.C. tourneys. He didn't have an error in his nine games. Nagy has been a finalist in the National Individual All-Star match game tourneys four times and finished third in 1948.

The Belgian Congo is 77 times the size of Belgium.

TWO FOR TWO

COLUMBUS, O., May 18—(UP)—Jolly Gremlin made it "two for two in his Beulah Park campaign yesterday when he romped home in front for the Meadowbrook Inn purse: It was Jolly Gremlins first start since an opening day triumph. Jockey Irving Payne guided Jolly Gremlin over the six furloughs yesterday in 1:15 and two fifths.

Harding Nine Rallies to Nip Mansfield, 4-3

Prexies Score Two in Seventh For Victory

The Harding High School baseball team posted a 4-3 upset win over the Mansfield Tyger yesterday afternoon at Lincoln Park Pete Howison's charges rallied for two runs in the seventh inning to clinch the verdict.

The Prexies took an early lead when they reached Tyger hurler Dave Hess for a single run in the first inning. They added another single in the second and Mansfield came back in the bottom of the second. The Tygers forged ahead in the third frame with two tallies.

Hess of Mansfield and Harding's Jim Edington settled into a pitcher's duel for three innings before the seventn

Winning Seventh

Don Ellison opened Harding's rally with a clean single, but was out when he attempted to stretch it into a double. Eddie Morse was sent in as a pinchhitter and belted a double to leftfield. Jim Condron drove a clean single to right and Condron raced in with the tying run. Condron then stole second and scored on an infield error by Tyger shortstop, Price.

The Prexies collected eight hits from the slants of Hess while Edington gave up only four safeties. Jack Daum with three for three and Don Ellison with two for two led the Prexies at the plate. Ken McCally belted a three-bagger for the Tygers. Only other extra base blows were doubles by Morse and Edington.

The Prexies will meet Lima Central Monday afternoon. The game originally was scheduled for two weeks ago but was postponed because of the district tournament

Field of Eight Expected For Preakness Run

BALTIMORE, May 18—(AP)—The 75th Preakness tomorrow at Pimlico has settled down to another elimination contest in the race to decide the best 3-year-old colt of 1951.

The names of eight horses of seven owners are expected to be in the entry box when it closes today.

The best of them are expected sooner or later to have it out with the cream of the Kentucky Derby finishers for the year's laurels None of the first five derby colts was eligible for this diamond jubilee Preakness.

Five of the eight probable starters went in the derby. Greentree Stable's Hall of Fame fared best, ninth.

However, indicating how two weeks can make a possible difference, Jockey Ted Atkinson has taken himself off Hall of Fame. He will ride the other Greentree entry, Big Stretch, 18th finisher in the Derby. Headley Woodhouse will take over Hall of Fame's reins.

The anticipated crowd of 35,000 is expected to bet heavily on Big Stretch and three other colts, two of which skipped the Derby.

The newcomers are Brookmeade Stable's Bold and Hampton Stable's Alerted. This pair impressed Pimlico fans Monday with a heads-apart finish in the Preakness prep

Mrs. Nora Mikell's Repertoire established himself as a Maryland favorite by winning two stakes at Laurel. They are finding excuses for his 12th in the Derby.

Fans looking for a "price" will go to the other three entries. They are Mrs. Wallace Gilroy's Timely Reward, C. V. Whitney's Counter-Point and Mrs George D. Widener's Know It All.

Race time is 4:17 p.m., E.S.T.

Ham Mousse Makes Tasty Use of Leftovers

TO BE or not to be a leftover to enjoy is the problem confronting the hostess after a party. The festive ham has become a not-so-festive leftover to plague the meal-planner.

Ready to turn your ham into pleasure for another special occasion is this recipe for ham mousse. There'll be no question about taste and attractiveness when it's put before the guests. Accompanied by a fresh-as-spring salad, it's the solution to the problem of how to please guests and budget, too

HAM MOUSSE

- ½ cup evaporated milk
- 2 T plain unflavored gelatin
- ¼ cup cold water
- 1½ cups hot water
- ½ t paprika
- ⅛ t pepper
- 2 t lemon juice
- ½ t Worcestershire sauce
- 2 cups ground ham
- ½ cup finely chopped celery
- ¼ cup finely chopped green pepper

Pour evaporated milk into refrigerator tray and place in freezing section of refrigerator until ice crystals form around the sides. Meanwhile soften gelatin in cold water, about five minutes in bowl. Pour hot water over softened gelatin, stir until dissolved. Stir in paprika, pepper, lemon juice and Worcestershire sauce. Chill in refrigerator until mixture begins to thicken. Fold in ground ham, celery and green pepper. Beat evaporated milk into chilled bowl and beat with chilled rotary beater until it stands in peaks. Fold into gelatin mixture. Pour into one-quart mold. Chill in refrigerator until firm. Unmold on bed of salad greens and serve with salad dressing.

An announcement was made that a Grange paper drive now is underway.

Mrs Walter Fetter, home economics chairman, appointed a committee to plan a special youth program for presentation in the near future. On the committee are Mr and Mrs Clifford McMahan, chairmen, Mr. and Mrs Harold Austin and Mr. and Mrs William Veress Jr. Named on the refreshment committee for the next meeting, May 29, were Mr. and Mrs Orla Barks, chairmen, Mr. and Mrs Robert Blanks, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Brobst, and Mrs Carolyn Boger.
